HOOVER PROPOSES TO WORK WITH ROOSEVELT TO ADJUST DEBTS WITHOUT NEW COMMISSION

RIGHT TO ABOLISH ELECTIVE OFFICES IS SOUGHT BY BODY

White-Berman Plan, Asking Assembly for Charter Changes, Given Only One Dissenting Vote. Backers Claim Saving.

COUNCIL REPEALS MILK BOTTLE LAW

Sewer Proposal Referred to Committee; Scrip To Be Accepted in Payment of Municipal Taxes.

Council Monday afternoon asked the Georgia assembly to give it a free hand in administration of municipal affairs when, with but one dissenting vote, it adopted a resolution offered by Councilmen John A. White and Joseph E. Berman, of the fourth ward.

The measure provides that council shall appoint and fix terms of all department heads and shall consolidate, merge or abolish departments at its own discretion. All elective offices, except those of mayor, councilmen and aldermen, would be abolished. Details of the proposal were carried exclusively in Sunday's issue of the Constitution.

In addition to the White-Berman measure, the following action was taken on important matters brought before council:

1. Repealed the ordinance regarding milk bottles in Atlanta, which was passed last July. It provided that it would be unlawful for any distributor to sell milk in any bottles except those owned by himself.

2. Referred to the 1933 sewer committee a proposal by Commissioner Walter C. Hendrix, chairman of the public works committee, that the city and county cooperate in beginning a sewer system program for the two governments. Acting Mayor J. Charlie Murphy suggested the action in order that start on the projected improvements can be had early next year.

3. Passed resolutions ordering the administrative officers to receive scrip from employees of the city and county and asked council and DeKalb counties to do likewise.

4. Voted against purchase of the traction service by the city and county on a five-cent basis as proposed by Alderman Ed A. Gilliam but referred to a council committee, headed by Alderman Murphy, a resolution offered by Councilman J. W. Weaver, of the second ward, seeking to place the city behind the petition of the Atlanta Federation of Trades for a five-cent trolley and bus fare.

5. Voted to establish a central storage warehouse in conjunction with the purchasing department effective January 1, to save $200,000 a year, according to a statement by Councilman James L. Wells, chairman of the finance committee, and author of the measure.

6. Referred to the police committee a petition of the Association of Railway Employees requesting strict enforcement of the city ordinance affecting operation of buses in Atlanta.

7. Passed to the 1933 finance committee.

Negro Church Collapses Under Load of Ice, Sleet

City building inspectors said condemnation proceedings had already been started against the Zion Tabernacle and that the building was in bad repair. Police and firemen Monday night roped off the surrounding area as a precaution in case the walls of the building fall, it was said. There was no one in the church at the time.

KELLEY WILL HEAD FIGHT TO RETURN BURNS TO GEORGIA

Assistant Attorney-General Leaves for Trenton. Story Told by Flegg Is Not Confirmed Here.

Assistant Attorney-General John I. Kelley left Monday night for Trenton, N. J., where Wednesday he will represent the state of Georgia at a hearing before Governor A. H. Rousevelt on its request for Robert Elliott Burns, fugitive from the Troup county chain gang who wrote a book about the Georgia penal system and who supervised work on a film made from that story.

As the state moved to take every precaution against losing the custody of Burns, who now is in the Newark city jail, having been arrested in that city early last Thursday morning, the one negative hope was heightened somewhat Monday when his sister-in-law at Newark received a telegram from Murphy M. Holloway, Attorney General.

Congress May Support Georgia Bicentennial

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—(AP)—A resolution seeking to set up a national Georgia bicentennial commission probably will be introduced tomorrow or Wednesday by Senators Hiram Bingham and Charles McNary, of Oregon, and other members of that body.

Representative Parker will submit a similar resolution in the house. The commission of about 20 persons, half appointed by the president and half made up of senators and representatives, would be authorized to serve without pay.

A "reasonable appropriation," Senator George said, would be asked. Foreign governments will be invited to send representatives to take part in Georgia's observance of her 200th birthday, particularly the governments of England, France, Poland, Sweden, and Germany, from which came the original Georgia colonists in 1733.

Members of the Georgia bicentennial commission, at which time plans for the legislation were made. Officers of the commission are: Hiram Bingham, president; Pleasant A. Stovall, editor of the Savannah Evening Press, president; Gordon Saussey, ordinary of Chatham county, secretary; Dr. Willis W. Sutton, superintendent of Atlanta schools, vice president of the commission and chairman of its executive committee; and Albert R. Rogers, executive secretary and director of the celebration.

Senators Cohen and George, and Congressman Castellow, Col. Lankford, Moberly, Ranspelt, Tarver and Vinson.

Director Rogers requested the issuance of an Oglethorpe stamp, and the Macdonald stamp, after a conference with postoffice officials he said he was confident both would be issued.

New Subscriptions of $554.50 Push Opportunities to $1,766

By ROY ROBERT.
Bitter cold and sleet brought a poignant realization to Atlantans during the week-end—the realization that scattered throughout the city were families of suffering humanity, and the response to The Constitution's Ten Opportunities totaled $554.50 to swell the total to date to $1,766, a sum beyond the half-way mark of $3,532 needed to care for the 10 neediest families during 1933.

Leading the subscriptions received Monday also was in excess of $100 any day since the fund was opened. Two anonymous donors, giving $75 and $50 each, said the bitter plight of unfortunate people elicited the subscriptions. There were numerous donations of from $1 to $10.

Three of the subscriptions came

ALLOTMENT PLAN SEEN AS MENACE TO HOG FARMERS

Packer Says Proposed Relief Plan Would Prove To Be A Boomerang to Producers.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—(AP)—Predictions that the domestic allotment farm relief plan would prove a boomerang to the hog producer by lowering instead of boosting his income were made to the house agriculture committee today by representatives of the packing industry.

George E. Putnam, economist for Swift & Co., and Frank A. Hunter, president of the Hunter Packing Company of East St. Louis, Ill., both testified the processing tax proposed to raise funds for paying the producer a premium on his share of the domestic consumption would come out of the farmer's price.

They were the first witnesses for the packing industry. Representatives of the milling and textile industries already have assailed the voluntary allotment plan which organized farm groups want applied to wheat, cotton, tobacco and hogs.

Hunter viewed the entire proposition as an exorbitant tax on food. Putnam called it "an aggravated sales tax."

Asked his attitude toward "a small general sales tax to pay the farmer a premium," Hunter replied: "I wouldn't be so much against that. It wouldn't be a bad thing to do."

Putnam said three groups were involved in the proposed tax on hog processing—the producer, the packer and the consumer.

"The profit margin normally received by Swift & Co. is not sufficient to absorb a sales tax of the kind proposed," Putnam testified. "Our loss in 1932 was $2,000,000."

"Fresh pork is a perishable product. We have to move it rapidly and at the price that will move it. Present retail prices run about $7.50 a hundred pounds. If it could be passed on to the consumer, it would be a loss of $10.50. That is out of the question in the present market."

"It is impossible, I can predict, as surely as I can predict the sun will rise that pork stocks would pile up on our hands. The consumer would substitute right and left."

"If the packer can't pay the tax and the consumer can't, it must come out of buying prices. Hogs are bought by bidding and our bids are based on the daily average price received for the dismembered hogs and it is generally believed that our selling prices are based on the price we pay for hogs, but just the reverse is true."

Hunter said he was operating at a loss.

"Why do you keep operating?" Chairman Jones asked.

"The reason is that I have $30,000 a day to blow the whistle at my plant if we don't do a thing," Hunter replied. "I continue to try to take a loss of 20 cents a hundred pounds instead of a loss of 50 cents."

Two Georgians Killed When Train Hits Truck

MOULTREE, Ga., Dec. 19.—(AP)—O. V. Graves, 48, and Clark Folds, 37, of Moultrie, were instantly killed early tonight when their truck was struck by a Georgia Northern railway train at a grade crossing within a few blocks of the business district here.

The men had been in the country and were returning to the city with a heavy load of wood on their truck when the accident occurred. Both men recently moved here from Waycross.

Opportunity No. 10

This is a needy and desperate case where a donation of only $12.50 a month will guard against the loss of $6 a week income now earned by the oldest of five children—a mere lad who supports his mother and four younger brothers and sisters. Long hours in a junk yard, lifting heavy iron and metal, and lack of nourishing food have almost broken his health and doctors say that unless he is better nourished he will collapse.

During 1932, this boy has been the breadwinner for the family. His task has been manfully met. Now he is faced with the horror of seeing his only source of income lost because of a weakened body. He is little more than a skeleton, but day after day he works in the cold, undernourished and miserable.

A donor must be assured that $12.50 a month could not be used to better advantage. It means saving the small income the family has. Just $150 for the year will work wonders as a supplement to an income which has been manfully met. Now he is faced with the horror of seeing his only source of income lost because of a weakened body. He is little more than a skeleton, but day after day he works in the cold, undernourished and miserable.

Democrats Confident Of Beer Bill Passage

Opponents Hope To Wreck Brew Measure by Amendments Affecting Alcoholic Content and Distribution.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—(AP)—Democratic leaders pushed ahead with their plans for house consideration of the Collier 3.2 percent beer bill today, confident of sufficient support to send it to the senate before the Christmas holidays.

"It looks like it will pass," said the members may have an opportunity to express their views. They plan to have the measure considered for amendments on Wednesday, with a final vote that day.

Michener said he felt certain an amendment would be proposed to reduce the alcoholic content provision to 2.75 per cent.

Representative LaGuardia, republican, New York, an anti-prohibitionist, plans to propose an amendment to place further restrictions on the methods of distribution. An effort to increase the tax of $5 a barrel to $7.50, Collier, a Mississippi democrat, said "the beer bill won't get as many votes as Speaker Garner's proposal to repeal the eighteenth amendment," and added "but it will get enough to send it to the senate."

It requires only a majority of the members present and voting to secure passage as contrasted with the two-thirds majority necessary for adoption of a repeal resolution. The vote on the Garner resolution was six short of the needed two-thirds.

U. S. COURT DENIES LUKE LEA REVIEW FOR C. OF GA. ROAD

Financier Plans to Fight Against Extradition to Begin Pen Term.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—(UP)—The supreme court today handed down a decision that virtually swings open prison gates for Luke Lea, noted southern newspaper publisher and financier.

It denied his application for review of a 10-year sentence which came after his conviction on charges of conspiracy and misapplication of funds of the Asheville (N. C.) Central Bank & Trust Company. The decision applies also to Luke Lea Jr., convicted in the same court with his father.

It was almost the end of a long legal battle for a man whose name was famous throughout the south. Former United States senator, possessor of a distinguished war record, Lea had fought his conviction for more than a year.

The supreme court today indicated tonight that the Lea would fight extradition to North Carolina. A motion now is pending in the state supreme court there for a stay of execution. It will be dismissed as soon as formal notification of the supreme court's action reaches there and a writ will be issued for the Lea's arrest.

House Votes To Allot U. S. Cotton to Needy

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—(AP)—Without a dissenting vote, the house today passed the Jones bill to allot the 329,000 bales of cotton to the Red Cross for relief distribution. The measure now goes to the senate, where speedy approval was forecast.

It was the second allotment of cotton voted by the house for the needy. Last session 500,000 bales were turned over to the Red Cross, in addition to 35,000,000 bushels of stabilization wheat.

A bill sponsored by Chairman Jones, of the agriculture committee, and approved by the Red Cross, bedding was added to uses to which the cotton may be put. Last session's law included only cloth and clothing.

John Barton Payne, chairman of the Red Cross, reported to the committee that only 33,000 bales remain of the original 500,000 allotment and that 4,202,267 families were reported in need by Red Cross chapters. He estimated the demand was sufficient to consume 2,000,000 bales.

Capone Lieutenant Reported Dying After 'Shooting It Out' With Police

BY ROBERT T. LOUGHRAN.
CHICAGO, Dec. 19.—(UP)—Nitti and six other men were in the elaborately furnished office on the fifth floor of the LaSalle-Wacker building when the mayor's riding squad entered on a tip they would find gangsters there.

The raid was a part of Cermak's campaign to "clean up" Chicago in anticipation of prohibition repeal. He has ordered all beer flats closed and gangsters driven out.

Police were as surprised at finding Nitti in the office as Nitti was at seeing them. He sat with his six companions behind mahogany, glass-paned desks. On his desk were road maps, an order book mysteriously headed "New M. P." motion picture magazines, and code telegrams. Two sacks of flour and one of bone fertilizer lay in a corner. On a blotter

ICE, SLEET DAMAGE RAPIDLY REPAIRED AS MERCURY RISES

Utility Services Approach Normal; Icy Streets Are Cleared; Rain Is Forecast for Tonight.

Evidences of a sleet storm which played havoc with power and communication lines, tied up roads and made slick all streets and sidewalks Monday were rapidly being obliterated, as service of the utility companies approached normal and street crews cleared away a 2-inch crust of ice.

The freeze-up is almost over for the present, and tonight will see rain and rising temperatures, according to the United States weather bureau.

Although emergency crews of the Georgia Power Company had repaired a great deal of damage, a herculean job remained on the East Point-Bremerton (Martin's dam) power tie-in with Alabama, more than 80 of the transmission towers having toppled over in the storm.

Georgia road conditions were improving fast Monday, with roads to Rome open again, and the Athens-Washington highway cleared. The Austell-Cedarhurst, Gainesville-Neel's Gap, and Stone Mountain-Monroe highways were still blocked. The Atlanta Motor Club advised motorists to go to Monroe via Lawrenceville or Winder.

Streets Cleared Off.

Workmen armed with shovels Monday scraped ice from the downtown streets and sidewalks. Under the influence of ground warmth and higher air temperatures, the ice was thawing, and slush meant damp feet for unwary pedestrians.

Councilman J. Frank Beck, chairman of the city relief center, said that the center is now furnishing an average of 6,000 hot meals a day to white and colored, sleeping quarters have 150 beds which are all occupied each night, and overflow provisions have been made in Taft hall, where 144 men slept Sunday night.

An east wind probably will bring Atlanta some rain tonight, according to Observer George W. Mindling. Temperatures today will rise slowly from a minimum this morning of about 32 degrees, the weatherman said.

"Warning conditions are reported generally from over the country," said Mr. Mindling. "This is due to a storm over western Canada moving easterly along the border, bringing southerly winds and rain here today is from the west, but it probably will shift to east or southeast today."

"There is a new storm in the west Gulf coast area. It is hoped rain from the Texas coast from Galveston to Brownsville Monday. We do not expect much trouble with the north Georgia rivers from the rain Tuesday. Labor, the middle and upper courses of the Chattahoochee are on

President May Ask Arms Embargo Right

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—(AP)—President Hoover is considering a special message to congress requesting authority to declare an embargo on arms shipments to all countries where actual or threatened hostilities exist.

The message was on the president's desk today. It would be sent to congress in the afternoon.

While specific reference was not made to any particular countries, the message comes at a time when the administration is co-operating with labor in efforts to pacify Paraguay and Bolivia in their undeclared war over territorial claims in the Chaco Boreal.

The Technocrats, as you will know from reading the papers and magazines, are a group of scientific engineers who have compiled a mass of statistics and data from which they conclude that a standard of energy will set the price system.

Dr. T. J. Cauley, of Emory University, agrees with the Technocrats "that the machine produces in enormous quantities but cannot buy." He talked for five hours, answering many questions with a great deal of glibness, but did not altogether satisfy the groups as to the value of conclusions drawn by the Technocrats. He said that the story as presented by Wayne Parrish in the New York Herald Tribune was not truly representative of the findings of the engineers, and that the real findings are best presented by Howard Scott in a forthcoming issue of the Living Age.

"Members of the group were uncertain as to the merits of the findings," Mr. O'Brien said.

Dr. Edgar H. Johnson, dean of the business school at Emory, said that the findings of the Technocrats "are very indefinite and vague, so much so

Crime Wave Is Laid To Christmas Paroles

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Dec. 19.—(UP)—The convicts Governor B. M. Miller sent home for Christmas were blamed by police today for eight out of 10 burglaries here.

Simultaneously, Milton H. McDuff, superintendent of the police bureau of identification, issued a statement in which he said police were unable to cope with the current crime wave.

"I have been trying to keep up with the Jefferson county convicts the governor pardoned," McDuff said, "but I have given up. It is too much of a job."

Governor Miller recently issued Christmas paroles to 315 convicts, a record number.

ROOSEVELT HOLDS 'DIRECT DEALING' IS BEST ON DEBTS

President-Elect Is Non-Committal on Hoover's Proposals, Although Their Ideas Differ.

By FREDERICK A. STORM.
ALBANY, N. Y., Dec. 19.—(UP)—President-elect Roosevelt indicated tonight he believed debt negotiations with individual nations can best be carried out by a special representative of the president rather than by a commission or a board.

Mr. Roosevelt, in expressing this view, after being informed by the United Press that President Hoover had intended to lay the ground for a debt commission, said he was "direct dealing," he outlined for debt negotiations remains unchanged.

"Have you received any word from Mr. Hoover on the debt proposal?" the governor was asked.

"I cannot tell you," he replied, "obviously that would have to come from the president. Some also, he indicated that defaulting nations would not be so treated."

Pointing out that congress already has rejected his suggestion for a revival of the war debt commission, the chief executive said he would proceed at once, with the hoped-for co-operation of the president-elect, to name delegates to "exchange views upon the debt questions with certain nations and advise upon the course to be pursued."

Although confirmation was withheld at the White House, there were definite indications tonight that Mr. Hoover had communicated the views and recommendations of his message to Mr. Roosevelt at Albany. Those in a position to know the president-elect plans were convinced he would prefer to "exchange views" and its immediate disposition to Mr. Hoover.

Linking debts, disarmament and world economies, Mr. Hoover said delegates should also be in a position to lay the ground for the world economic conference to be held next year, and that some of them should "be associated with the army and navy."

Roosevelt Consulted.
From the tenor of his note it was assumed here that the president already had made overtures to Mr. Roosevelt. It was indicated that the personnel of the commission will be submitted to the president-elect for his approval.

The chief executive used these words in speaking of his successor-elect:

SPECIAL MESSAGE IS WELL RECEIVED ON CAPITOL HILL

President Promises To Review Question With Those Nations Which Have Kept Word, But Not With Defaulters.

BORAH ADVOCATES GENERAL PARLEY

President-Elect Will Be Asked To Approve Machinery for Dealing With World Problems.

Text of Hoover Debt Message in Page 6.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—(AP)—President Hoover today told congress that with or without its assistance he intends to co-operate with President-elect Roosevelt in creating machinery to deal with the complex problems of war debts, disarmament and world economic affairs.

In his long-awaited special message, which was received with general approval on Capitol Hill, the president promised to review the debts of the nations who have sought to maintain their obligations to us. He indicated that defaulting nations would not be so treated.

Pointing out that congress already has rejected his suggestion for a revival of the war debt commission, the chief executive said he would proceed at once, with the hoped-for co-operation of the president-elect, to name delegates to "exchange views upon the debt questions with certain nations and advise upon the course to be pursued."

10 Opportunities Fund Indorsed By Christmas Giving Committee

Joining others in indorsing Ten Opportunities as "the richest opportunity for Christmas giving . . . the assurance of the necessities of life the year round," the Christmas Giving Committee of the Social Welfare Council Monday wrote as follows to The Constitution:

"We wish to express our heartfelt appreciation and indorsement of the 'Ten Opportunities' fund again sponsored by The Atlanta Constitution. Surely there is no richer opportunity for Christmas giving, nor more splendid way to express the spirit of Christmas than the taking of one of these opportunities, which means to the recipients of the gift not only a happy Christmas, but the assurance of the necessities of life the year round for those who after Christmas would otherwise face a year of destitution.

"This labor of love which you have so generously undertaken in your columns for several years is just the sort of thing that the Christmas Giving Committee of the Social Welfare Council is trying to promote. May the movement meet with a successful response again this year when the help is needed as never before."

The indorsement of the annual charity sponsored by The Constitution was in addition to other commendation of the work from Mayor James L. Key, Mrs. W. P. Dunn, president of the Atlanta Women's Club, and other leaders.

The Christmas Giving Committee of the Social Welfare Council is made up of Joe L. McMillin, chairman; G. K. Selden, co-chairman; Mrs. Samuel M. Inman, Miss Angela Cox, Major J. Arthur Fynn, Dr. Herman L. Turner, Mrs. Mabel Curry, Miss Katherine Woodrow, James Morton, Dr. C. R. Stouffer, A. Steve Nance, Mrs. V. H. Huger, Mrs. Mary Ansley Miller, Mrs. Frank Neely and Mrs. Emily Ravanel Walker.

from outside Atlanta, from Albany, Mineral Bluff and Warm Springs, Ga. William G. Pryse, writing from Albany, said: "While the need is great here in Albany, I wish to add my contribution to Ten Opportunities."

Several subscriptions were designated for Opportunity No. 6, but because the Southern railway employees had subscribed for that family a few days ago, the donations will be applied to the other families.

Although the response during the week-end was gratifying, Atlanta was urged to remember that there is yet $1,416 to be subscribed if the 10 neediest families in town are to be cared for during next year—next year, a period when they must receive aid through the entire 12 months or suffer all but unbelievable privations and hardships.

While donations were coming in, commendation for the constructive nature of the Ten Opportunities continued to be heard. Dr. Thorndell Jacobs, president of Oglethorpe University, praised the movement for its "constructive and humane objective, along with the spirit of helping those in need." Several other individuals and organizations indorsed the fund.

Meanwhile, more than 50 members of the 10 neediest families were being cared for temporarily. Despite these efforts, the suffering continued. Ice and sleet blew through inadequate windows and through cracks in walls, while undernourished bodies bore up poorly under the coldest weather of winter.

Only a definite program of relief will relieve the plight of the sufferers, who in every instance are worthy people who will become rehabilitated with this help.

It was that program of giving more than a mere Christmas gift that inspired laudatory comments by citizens. Opinion was general that the very best Christmas present one can give is the assurance to a stricken family that help will be given throughout the next year.

Cash contributions received Monday were as follows:

W. G. Pryse	$1.00

was initiated last month by the latter.

He shook his head negatively. Advisors were convinced also that a policy of bargaining for the best possible terms could be carried out with a great measure of success by an individual rather than through the formality of a conference room and in what they termed "across the table" discussions.

The president-elect was informed of the Hoover message soon after he completed the three-hour conference with Owen D. Young, founder of the reparations plan that bears his name.

"Did you go over the debt situation with him, Roosevelt?" he asked. "Wouldn't you like to know?" he replied.

"Oh," he added, "we just talked over. You know he was to have come here last week, but illness made it necessary to remain at home."

The governor also said today William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor; Matthew Woll and Joseph Weber, both vice presidents of the same organization. They presented a sheet of petitions urging the governor to name Daniel J. Tobin, of Indianapolis, labor secretary in cabinet.

"I told them," Roosevelt said, "that this matter would be considered like all others of a similar nature. In other words, I do not expect to have any announcement on cabinet appointments until several weeks after January 1."

Arthur Mullens, national democratic committee man from Omaha, Neb., and one of the Roosevelt floor leaders in the Chicago convention, was present. He had been in the city since the day of the election, but had not taken part in any political situation with the president-elect.

"Anything on the cabinet?" he was asked. "You know you have been mentioned for the attorney-generalship," Mullens smiled and remarked that "I don't know anything more about the cabinet than what I have read in the newspapers."

Roosevelt worked until nearly 8 o'clock at his desk in the executive offices at the state capital. A steady stream of callers that began lining up as early as noon kept him busy until he called a halt and went to dinner at the mansion.

ICE, SLEET DAMAGE RAPIDLY REPAIRED AS MERCURY RISES

the decline, and there could not be much danger of additional floods unless the rains are very heavy."

Atlanta Monday was covered by an unusually thick layer of clouds, and the relative humidity was 98 per cent in the morning and 96 per cent at noon, almost to the saturation point of 100 per cent. "The sun would clear up our troubles here in short order if it could break through for a while, but there are at least a million miles of clouds," Mr. Mindling said.

Temperatures Monday hung close to the freezing point, but sleet and snow which several days ago was thawing rapidly, Atlanta, a slushy condition. The thermometer recorded 29 degrees at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon and this level was held until 11 o'clock Sunday night, when the mercury started upward slowly. It was 30 degrees at midnight Sunday night, and until after 4 o'clock Monday morning. From 5 to 8 o'clock the mercury read 31 degrees, and from 9 o'clock to noon it was at 32 degrees. It went to 33 at 1 o'clock but late in the afternoon came down again to 32 and was scheduled to hang around that point for the night.

The average daily excess of temperature has been cut down by the cold wave to half a degree per day, Mr. Mindling said. It had been as high as eight degrees per day, but the freeze sent the mercury on the skids, the thermometer taking a tumble to 29 degrees at 8 o'clock Sunday morning for the lowest reading of the season to date.

There was not much change in temperature over the south Monday, although thermometers in other sections were rising, Mr. Mindling said. It was freezing Monday morning south of central Texas and central Louisiana, into the southern third of Mississippi, over half of Alabama, Georgia and South Carolina, and over more than half of North Carolina.

While Atlanta reported 31 degrees at 7 o'clock, Macon and Savannah both recorded 36 degrees and Thomasville had 40 degrees. New Orleans reported 27 degrees, Nashville 6 degrees, Jacksonville 44 degrees, Palestine, Texas, 30 degrees, Shreveport, La., Vicksburg, Miss., Dallas, Texas, Meridian, Miss., 28 degrees, Raleigh, N. C., 26 degrees, Charlotte, Asheville and Memphis, 24 degrees, Wilmington, N. C., 38 degrees, Moorehead, Minn., 4, Havre, Mont., 12, Huron, 2, Helena, S. North Platte, S. Toledo, 12, Washington, 14.

Skies were generally overcast Monday from the Gulf north to Missouri and Kentucky. Airplane travel was hindered by the cold and poor visibility, although at Candler field Monday afternoon it was said that visibility was about two miles and the ceiling was 800 to 1,000 feet. Air-mail was moving, but on delayed schedules. Passenger travel was practically at a standstill.

Planes left Atlanta for Jacksonville and Cincinnati, but southbound traffic from New York was cancelled at Richmond because of poor visibility. The Atlanta-Dallas plane left this morning, but was expected to stop at Jackson, Miss.

Power Service Nearly Normal. Troubles of the Georgia Power Company brought on by breaking wires were about caught up in and around Atlanta, and officials of the company said that service will be practically normal over this section by this morning. The main transmission lines were back in service, except for the East Point-Bremen line to Alabama, and the Atlanta-Lincoln line. The latter line was repaired Monday morning, but broke again between Marietta and Cartersville.

Plant Atkinson, emergency power source on the Chattahoochee at Bolton, was still in operation Monday as a precaution against further transmission line trouble.

Street car service was better, although slightly impeded in the downtown district by Christmas shopping crowds. All breaks in the trolley wires had been repaired.

Telephone service was rapidly coming back to normal on long distance calls. The American Telephone and Telegraph Company, however, was about 50 per cent short on circuits to the north and northwest. The Southern Bell reported that points which were isolated several days ago could be reached Monday.

Local telephone workmen were "snowed under" with lines out of order as the thaw set in.

700 Telephones Dead. G. C. Bowden, district manager of the telephone company, said that between 700 and 800 telephones were out of order Monday morning, and, in spite of the fact that many new complaints came in during the day, Monday night found the city with only 400 stations in trouble.

New trouble is expected by the telephone company today as ice, a

4 Opportunities Taken, 6 Remain Open

OPPORTUNITY NO. 1.

Taken by Mrs. William Healey and her two sons, who were prompted to subscribe one year's support for a widowed mother and two children, a boy and a girl, 10 and 11 years old. The family has been living in one room which contained only a table, three cooking stoves and smoking grate. Mrs. Healey subscribed $30, or $32.50 a month, to care for the mother and children during 1933.

OPPORTUNITY NO. 2.

Taken by the 2-50 Club, organization of newspaper and theatrical men, who subscribed $240 for next year to care for Mrs. H. and three children, who were left destitute by the death of the husband and father. The donation of $20 a month, added to the small sum the eldest boy was selling newspapers, will procure medical treatment for the sick mother.

OPPORTUNITY NO. 3.

No greater act of charity could be done by any organization or individual than to subscribe for the care of this family of a widowed mother and four children, who a few years ago, before their father and husband's death, comprised a happy family. Dora, the eldest child, 16 years of age, until recently found part time work in tenement stores and odd jobs of sewing, but malnutrition has so weakened every member of the family that tuberculosis is eminent for all. Welfare workers have found that permanent relief away from a non-conductor, melts away from the telephone lines and allows them to touch wet limbs. With a good break in weather, all things should be back in service by tonight, Mr. Bowden said.

Installations of new telephones has practically stopped until the lines have been placed back in working order, as every available man is on the job, he said.

Warmer weather was a boon to several hundred families forced into refugee camps as the result of overflow of the Pearl river at Jackson, Miss., but the weather bureau said that further rains or a sudden thaw might further spread damage of the stream. The Coosa river lapped at the edge of the Wetumpka business section in Alabama, threatening downtown basements, and other cities on the stream in Alabama and Georgia watched the river closely. The Coosa at Rome had fallen two feet since Sunday, but was rising at Gadsden.

Twenty-five persons were reported dead in the south over the week-end from accidents, with many of the fatalities traceable to the cold. Fourteen died in automobile mishaps on icy streets and roads, six deaths were from exposure, two were fatally burned, one was killed in a boiler explosion, one by a train, and one was drowned in a bathtub after being overcome by gas from a heater. Georgia led in deaths with eight.

Georgia SLEET STORM DAMAGES BERRY SCHOOL. ROME, Ga., Dec. 19.—(P)—Miss Martha Berry, founder and director of the Berry Schools, today said thousands of dollars damage had been done at Mount Berry, home of the schools, by the recent flood and blizzard.

Miss Berry returned to Mount Berry from New York where she had been conducting a campaign for funds for the schools and found highways blocked by uprooted trees, the electrically operated heating and water pumping systems closed and candle light and open fires being used.

Trial Postponed.

CLEARWATER, Fla., Dec. 19.—(P)—Trial of Sam Ciccarello and Benny Pardo, Tampa mechanics, on charges of flopping R. W. Oxford, St. Petersburg auto paint shop proprietor, was postponed today when three material witnesses failed to appear.

OPPORTUNITY NO. 4.

A group of women in a study club who wish to remain anonymous subscribed $20 a month, or $240 for 1933, to care for a widowed mother and six children, one of whom is old enough to sell papers.

OPPORTUNITY NO. 5.

A new blue-eyed baby recently arrived as another welcome addition to an invalid father, a frail mother and four other children. Though the new baby brought happiness into the hearts of Mr. and Mrs. C., she was a liability—another expense. Stark destitution and despair are facing the family of seven unless permanent aid is given—unless they can be cared for until Mr. C. recovers from a young condition brought on by a lack of food, worry and overwork at peddling vegetables from house to house.

Doctors say that with a few months of rest and proper food the husband will again be able to work. But unless aid is given, death is sure to follow, leaving a widow and five young children who will be without any means of support. Forty dollars a month will keep them going through 1933—only $480 for the year.

OPPORTUNITY NO. 6.

Encouraged by the improvement shown in this family which they cared for during 1932, a group of employees of the general freight offices of the Southern railway in Atlanta, subscribed $33 a month, or $396 for the next year, to care for an invalid father and husband, a frail little mother and three small children. Indications are that by the end of this year this family, through the help of the railway employees, will again be able to carry on by themselves.

OPPORTUNITY NO. 7.

Two girls, 15 and 16 years of age, have supported a tubercular father, an invalid mother and two younger children. But overwork, worry and a lack of nourishing food caused a breakdown for both daughters. Doctors said that if support is furnished them for one year, Mary and Alice will again be strong. They are out of bed and are able to do light housework. Only $20 a month—$240 for the year will see them through—for Mary and Alice believe they can start back to work after one month's rest.

OPPORTUNITY NO. 8.

A mother and four small children are living in one draughty room in a ramshackle house. Colds and influenza have made the

OPPORTUNITY NO. 9.

An invalid former minister and his family are in greatest want. For months pride kept their plight from public knowledge. Mrs. O. sought work in a factory and for several months was able to make both pills and ends meet. Now she, too, is broken in health. There are no children old enough to work. Their destitution is pathetic, yet—will buy the milk, bread, butter and fuel the children and mother must have.

OPPORTUNITY NO. 10.

One boy earning $6 a week in a junk yard has kept a family of a mother and four younger sisters and brothers going. He is ill and undernourished and unless he has more substantial food doctors say his health will be completely broken. Because he will be one of the poorest of the poor, the $6 may furnish more food and fuel for the younger children and his mother. This will be one of the easiest cases to handle, with $12.50 each month to add to the few dollars he has been earning. Unless $480 is given the family will be wholly dependent upon the public for support.

A Message to the Employees of the City of Atlanta

$50,000 of scrip presently to be issued by the city of Atlanta to its employees in payment of wages will be accepted at Rogers Stores upon the following basis:

Original holders will receive 25% in cash and 75% in merchandise. In instances where 75% in merchandise is more than is immediately required—a due bill will be issued in exchange for scrip against which merchandise can be withdrawn and charged as needed until the full amount has been exhausted. In no instance, however, will the period of time within which merchandise can be taken up be greater than thirty days.

The Rogers Company has never been found lacking in its civic duties, and, regardless of the size of this undertaking whereby we agree to purchase almost one eighth of the total issue of scrip, it is a pleasure to again be able to do our share.

Flegg Was Ringleader in Holdup, Asserts Man Who Arrested Burns

An affidavit of Ben P. Gillespie, retired city detective, one of the two officers who arrested Robert Elliott Burns, Sidney George Flegg, or Flegg, and John Moore in the now famous $4,800 hold-up here 10 years ago, tending to refute Flegg's statement that Burns plotted the hold-up, was forwarded to Governor A. Harry Moore in Trenton Monday night.

The affidavit was furnished Burns' New Jersey counsel through Murphy M. Holloway, former Atlanta police recorder, who earlier had telegraphed Mrs. Vincent Burns, wife of the one-time fugitive's minister-brother, telling her that he had evidence which would result in Burns winning his fight to defeat Georgia's move to extradite him.

In his affidavit Mr. Gillespie said that he and his partner arrested the three men on the West Point right-of-way a few minutes after the robbery of the S. Bernstein grocery on South Pryor street had been flashed to police headquarters.

"One of the men, who gave his name as Sidney Flegg, assumed the role of ready spokesman for the trio," the affidavit goes on. "Flegg told me in the presence of the other two men who gave their names as Elliott Burns and John Moore, that he, Flegg, had met them the first time that morning, the day of the Bernstein holdup, in a restaurant or pool room near the intersection of Mitchell and Forsyth streets. Flegg said that until this meeting he never had seen Burns or Moore before. He said Burns told him he was broke and hungry. They went out Pryor street where Flegg said they held up and robbed a Jew, that Burns acted under his instructions when he robbed the cash drawer."

The retired detective asserts in the affidavit that he did not believe Burns knew the mission when he accompanied the other two men to the store. He also says a pistol taken from Bernstein was found in Flegg's possession. The detective concludes the long statement by saying that he believes Burns has been punished enough for part in the crime.

The statement was made in answer to one given out by Flegg in Seattle Sunday night in which he accused Burns of leading him into the Bernstein robberies and other hold-ups.

KELLEY TO HEAD GEORGIA'S FIGHT FOR R. E. BURNS

Atlanta lawyer, which said that he was in possession of facts which would assure Burns of victory in his fight against extradition.

Holloway, in his telegram to the sister-in-law, Mrs. Vincent Burns, wife of the former fugitive's minister brother, said that he was the attorney for Sidney George Flegg, alias Flegg, partner of Burns in the robbery here which netted the latter the six to ten year chain gang term from which he twice fled. The lawyer said his evidence would refute the statements of Flegg made at Seattle Sunday night charging that Burns has been the leader in the Atlanta robbery and in other holdups here.

Later he made public an affidavit by Ben R. Gillespie, who arrested Burns and Flegg, tending to show that Flegg, not Burns, was the leader of the robbery plot.

Flegg's story was not entirely borne out by records here. The records show that he was arrested with Burns; that he was convicted at the same time of court; that he was pardoned by Governor Clifford Walker in 1926 instead of 1929, as he stated in Seattle; that the local address he gave does not exist; and that there is no record of a $400 robbery which he claims Burns and he participated in a few hours before they committed a $4,800 holdup which resulted in the both of them obtaining prison terms.

In his Newark cell, Burns Monday issued a statement denying the allegations of Flegg or Flegg, but gave no further details of their relations.

The decision to send Assistant Attorney-General Kelley to Trenton came at a conference Monday between Judge Vivian L. Stanley, member of the Georgia prison commission, and Attorney-General Lawrence S. Camp, after Judge Stanley had received a message from Warden J. Harold Hardy, of the Troup county chain gang, who is in New Jersey to receive Burns when and if he is extradited.

Before accepting the appointment as a state's counsel, Kelley achieved a wide reputation as a criminal lawyer and during his younger days was a protégé of the late Thomas E. Watson.

To reach Newark today, the assistant attorney-general will reach Trenton late this afternoon and will confer with Warden Hardy and Chief R. E. Carter, of the Troup county police, before going to Newark.

"I am prepared to show Governor Moore that Burns should receive no more consideration as any other criminal," Kelley said as he boarded a train for Trenton. "I have his record from start to finish and also affidavits from the state of New Jersey that he did not conduct himself as he should have while he was in hiding after his first escape from Campbell county in 1922."

Indications that the state of New York would press its claim for Burns in the event Georgia's appeal for his requisition for him is denied came Monday when District Attorney Thomas C. T. Crain, of New York city, issued orders that a request for Burns be drawn on New Jersey. Burns is charged with having forged the name of his New York employers to a check for $50 and to have disappeared after posting $1,500 bond.

Judge Stanley said he felt certain that New York would make no effort to get Burns from Georgia until he had finished his term in this state. Burns' papers at the prison commission office bear a notation, "Hold for the state of New York." Judge Stanley said, adding that Inspector Joseph Donovan, of the New York city police, wrote more than two years ago asking that Burns be held for his office in the event he was released from the gang.

Meanwhile Governor Moore continued to receive scores of appeals in behalf of Burns, but gave no indication how he will view the case when it is formally presented to him Wednesday afternoon. Among those expressing "sympathy" for Burns and his family was Governor Joseph B. Ely, of Massachusetts. The staff of Governor George White, of Ohio, also petitioned Governor Moore in Burns' behalf, as did many others in all sections of the country.

BURNS' MOTHER, BROTHER TALK TO DISTRICT ATTORNEY
NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—Mrs. Catherine Burns, mother of Robert Elliott Burns, chain gang fugitive, and the Rev. Vincent Burns, of Palisades, N. J., his brother, conferred today with District Attorney Thomas C. T. Crain. The nature of the conference was not disclosed.

Attaches of the office said a decision would be made tomorrow, however, on whether Burns' extradition to New York would be asked.

TWO ATLANTANS HURT IN AUTOMOBILE CRASH

John E. Stone, Atlanta garage man, and his wife Monday were in an Augusta hospital following an automobile accident Saturday night while on their way to visit relatives in Augusta. Mr. Stone was said to be unconscious from concussion of the brain.

Mrs. Stone suffered a fracture of the collar and pelvic bones. Their car struck a parked truck 23 miles south of Augusta. Mr. and Mrs. Stone live at 72 Rivers road. He operates the John Stone garage near the Ansley hotel.

Mrs. Stone's condition Monday night was "fair," according to information received by relatives in Atlanta. Mrs. Stone formerly was Miss Ruth Stark, of Atlanta. Mr. Stone, a native of Augusta, was connected with Anchors' garage before going into business for himself.

AID TO CAPONE WOUNDED, DYING

In front of him was the motto: "Your Most Valuable Asset—Earned Income."

Lang and three companions ordered Nitti, an ex-cop, to line up against a wall with his companions. Nitti, small and dapper, with a tiny moustache, lined up with the others. He sniggered.

The officers ordered the gangsters to march out into the hallway. Nitti obeyed, unresisting.

As he reached the threshold, the little gangster suddenly crammed two slips of paper into his mouth, wheeled about as he drew a revolver, and opened fire. He fired only one bullet, which hit Lang in the arm, before the raiders answered him with pistol fire and he crumpled to the floor, bleeding from three wounds. As he fell, the papers, already partly masticated, flew from his mouth.

The papers were recovered, but police said it would require expert work to decipher them. There was a pencilled note concerning a railway trip, giving the round trip fare at $96.46, compartment $45.50, and other figures totaling $385.54. No details were mentioned. The other was in code.

Lang and Nitti were rushed to the Bridewell hospital. Physicians said one bullet pierced his kidney and that he probably would die.

Nitti won his title of "The Enforcer" while a member of Al Capone's "underworld cabinet." Although regularly assigned to keeping books, he usually was the first to "pass judgment" on Capone enemies and usually it was he who gave the orders for punishment. He was one of the first gangsters sent to Leavenworth for income tax violation, and was freed a year ago.

The men arrested with Nitti gave their names as Louis Carmino, Martin Sanders, Joe Parrillo, Lewis Messey, John Pope and Tom Hurt.

"My God, let me live," Nitti screamed in agony at the hospital. Dr. Charles Besta examined the 5-foot, 120-pound gangster. Dr. Gatena Ronga, Nitti's father-in-law, did likewise after being kept waiting an hour and a half in a corridor. He and Besta agreed Nitti's condition was too serious to operate.

"My God, let me live," repeated Nitti, over and over, sometimes mumbling, sometimes screaming.

Facing death, the ruthless "Enforcer" who once drove three gangsters from a park with a machine gun, was ruthless no longer. Perspiration streamed down his face. His eyes darted from doctor to doctor, begging. His fingers clutched at the bandages. Over and over he repeated his prayer: "My God, let me live; my God, let me live."

Be Sensible about the FLU

With every epidemic of influenza comes an epidemic of advice. But if you have the flu—or you even suspect its presence—there's just one thing to do. Call a doctor immediately.

There are, however, some simple and sensible precautions everyone should take at this time. Try to keep in good physical condition. Guard against colds or sore throat by avoiding contact with all coughers and sneezers. The germs of disease will often fasten upon the man or woman whose vitality has been lowered by a severe cold.

If you should catch a cold, Bayer Aspirin will help fight it. Keep a supply of these tablets in the house and take them according to directions at the first sign of any cold. Crush three Bayer Aspirin tablets in half a glass of water and gargle as directed, if there is any soreness of the throat.

Be sure to use the genuine Bayer Aspirin tablets stamped with the Bayer cross.

Above all, don't delay calling your doctor if you have reason to suspect that you may have caught the flu.

HIGH COURT FLAYS FEDERAL DRY TRAP

Supreme Bench Roundly
Scores Agent Who Trick-
ed War-Time Friend.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—(AP)—Entrapment by federal prohibition enforcement agents was denounced in strong language today by the supreme court.

In an opinion handed down by Chief Justice Hughes reversing sentence in a North Carolina case, such practice brought severest condemnation. Justices Brandeis and Stone used equally forceful language in censuring the practice, but differed from the majority as to how entrapment cases should be handled by trial courts.

C. B. Sorrells, near Clyde, N. C., was convicted on charges of violating the prohibition law after he procured whiskey for "one Martin, prohibition agent," and sold "war-time buddy."

Sorrells was sentenced to 18 months. He claimed that he procured liquor only after the prohibition agent had repeatedly insisted and reminded that they were in the 30th division together during the war.

"It is clear," Chief Justice Hughes said, "that the evidence was sufficient to warrant a finding that the act for which defendant was prosecuted was instigated by the prohibition agent, that it was the creature of his purpose, that the defendant had no previ-

'End of World' Prophecy

Almost True—for Cain

James Jones, 28, negro, of a Cain street address, Sunday night while a "sleeper" at the police station, told officers that "the world is coming to an end tomorrow."

On Monday, Jones' prediction almost came true, in so far as Jones was concerned. The negro entered the grocery store of Charles Corey, 264 Decatur street, and, with his hand held threateningly in his pocket, picked up the cash register and started out, according to police reports.

Corey, according to police, opened fire with a shotgun, hitting Jones in the back. The negro is in a serious condition at Grady hospital.

ous disposition to commit it, but was an industrious, law-abiding citizen."

The chief justice said such a "gross abuse of authority" deserved the severest condemnation, but the question was whether it precluded prosecution or afforded ground for defense.

He took the position that persons indicted of violating the federal prohibition law who claimed entrapment, should have an opportunity of having the jury pass on the question whether the alleged illegal act was due to persuasion by a federal agent, and that the trial court did not have jurisdiction to quash the indictment. Justices Brandeis and Stone took the position that trial judges should be free, when convinced that the act had been perpetrated through the inducement of federal agents to quash the indictment and dismiss the case.

BETTERMENT IS SEEN IN SMALLER PLANTS

Small manufacturing plants are beginning to place orders, and this and other indications point to a volume of business next year at least as good as 1932 and probably better, according to E. E. Potter, eastern sales manager of the General Electric Company, incandescent lamp department, who is in Atlanta holding a regional sales conference.

"While I wouldn't like to make predictions, fearing I might be termed foolishly optimistic, I do see small signs of improvement," Mr. Potter said. "The small manufacturing concerns are placing orders. Collections are better, credit has improved, although we are still having trouble with small dealers here and there."

"Demand for residence lights is better, too. Taking the situation as a whole we may look for business in 1933 as good as in 1932, and probably better. There will of course be no overnight change. Recovery will be gradual."

Mr. Potter, whose headquarters are at Nela Park, Cleveland, is making a review of the various districts handling his products. He has seen them all except Pittsburgh, where he is going from Atlanta. While here he and T. W. Moore, southeastern manager, held a sales conference.

"The south looks good to us," he said. "Textiles have held up well. The mills are operating on good time. It used to be that the foremen of good times came out of the mill sections of New England. It may be that in the future the south will also put out these foremen."

He said that New England had been the last to feel the depression, but that now, with other sections seeming to be improving, New England was getting the brunt of the depression. This condition, he said, also applied in some degree to the west.

Although a republican, Mr. Potter seemed to think that the country as a whole, regardless of its political complexion, accepted the November vote as final. Many people, he said, took the position that such a large vote as that given to Roosevelt couldn't be wrong.

"Personally I would like to see President Hoover carry on and put through some of these, his policies," he said. "Now I am adjusted to the change. It may be that change is what we needed—it may bring back about the psychological reaction the country had wanted."

'Forget-Me-Not' Drive Set for December 22

Members of Atlanta chapter, Disabled American Veterans, will hold their "Forget-Me-Not" drive Thursday, December 22, it was announced Monday by Mrs. Henry M. Noyes, general chairman. This move originally was scheduled for last Friday, but was postponed because of weather conditions.

All committees organized for the drive Friday are asked to take their same assignments Thursday. Postponement of the drive merely emphasized the need of funds faced by the relief work committees of the local chapter, according to Mrs. Noyes. Many disabled veterans, with dependent families, are without food, coal, clothing and shelter and they had been waiting on the drive last Friday to obtain relief from funds contributed.

'DOUBLE-CROSS' LAID TO PRISON DIRECTOR

Pen Manufacturer of Furniture Hit in Competition Probe.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—(AP)—Representative Rich, republican, of Pennsylvania, charged today at a house committee hearing that Sanford Bates, director of the bureau of prisons, had "double crossed" members of the committee of representatives investigating government competition with private business by installing equipment for the manufacture of furniture at the federal prison in Lewisburg, Pa.

Rich made his statement after C. P. Garvin, representing the National Stationers' Association, had testified that the steel furniture equipment in the Lewisburg prison "would enable the manufacture of more steel furniture than all other private makers in the United States combined."

An attempt was recently made by Representative Stafford, republican, Wisconsin, also a member of the Shannon committee, to keep an ap-

Don't let bad health get the best of you. Face each day with new energy and the fighting vigor to carry on with the aid of Sargon. Read what W. S. Davis, well-known merchant and Mason, of 498 N. Liberty St., Spartanburg, S. C., says about this modern compound:

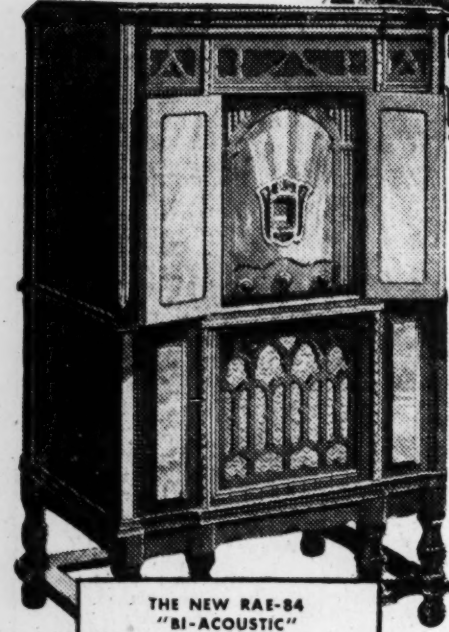

"Stomach trouble had been pulling me down for years and I'd gotten in mighty bad shape. Heartburn, indigestion and smothering sensations would come on me after meals, and sometimes I'd get so weak and dizzy I could hardly keep on my feet. I suffered so much with constipation that I nearly always had a headache. It took the strongest kind of purgatives to move my bowels. I never did sleep well and would get up in the mornings with such a backache it was all I could do to drag around the store. I felt grouchy and didn't take much interest in my business or anything else.

"Sargon did more for me than I ever expected of any medicine. I'm eating things now I wouldn't have dared to touch before, and my stomach has never been in better condition, and my whole system feels strengthened. The pain in my back is gone; I don't get nervous or have that weak, dizzy feeling any more, and I sleep like a log. I get up and start the day in good spirits, and am able to look after my business with my old time energy and cheerfulness. "Sargon Pills gave me wonderful results in regulating my bowels. The best part about them is that they don't upset me like other laxatives I used to take. It's just wonderful—that is what I say about the Sargon treatment." Jacobs Pharmacy.—(adv.)

Colleges of South Trim Sails, Weather Period of Depression

Southern colleges have resorted to keen financing and have defied the call of economic stress to furl the colors of higher learning.

A committee appointed by the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools to summarize reports by 122 universities and colleges that compose the four-year group of the association revealed Monday that they have weathered the depression more successfully than expected.

Student attendance in holding up far better than had been anticipated and decreases in the salaries of faculties have been much less than had been expected.

The committee report said, "It is gratifying that in general (the colleges) have weathered the depression more successfully than the bank or trust companies or municipal or state or county governments in our territory."

Regarding faculty salaries, the report said, "There have been salary increases in 17 institutions, unchanged conditions in 40 and decrease in 65 others."

The 188 institutions have an enrollment of 112,465 students, only about 5,000 less than the more prosperous years of 1929-30. There was increased attendance in 71 schools, increases in 46 and five reported no change.

The committee found colleges located in metropolitan centers fared better as regards attendance than those in the small towns.

The total enrollment of the 122 schools is $164,292,151. Sixty-two of the association's members had no cuts at all and 60 members are indebted to the extent of $10,681,040. In the face of depression, the colleges spent $19,163,148 in the three years for permanent improvements.

"For the first time in our history," the report continued, "tax-supported institutions seem to be suffering quite as much as private or independent ones. The present situation raises serious question as to whether we ought not to assist such (state supported) colleges by specifying certain minimum requirements as to appropriations per student and as to prompt payment of budgets."

The financial conditions of denominational and independent institutions present sharp contrasts, the committee found. A few colleges of that sort "seem to have more than half of their capital investments past due as to principal and much of it in default as to interest. In other cases less than 1 per cent of either principal and interest is in default."

The greatest sufferers are those schools that invested their endowments heavily in farm and urban property mortgages, the report declared, and others are heavy losers through investments in foreign bonds.

Those faring best are the schools with investment committees that have kept in close touch with national investment houses.

The growth of correspondence courses and extension work "has troubled us seriously," the committee reported. "We have investigated this enough to be sure that it is likely to become a menace to our standards. We hope that steps may be taken promptly to regulate this."

Dr. J. R. McCain, president of Agnes Scott College, in Decatur, Ga., was chairman of the committee and made public the report. Other committee members were W. P. Few, president of Duke University; C. A. Brown, associate superintendent of schools at Birmingham, Ala.; R. H. Watkins, superintendent of schools at Laurel, Miss.; A. M. Dupre, dean of Wake Forest College; President C. J. Turck, of Centre College, and President Alex. Guerry, of the University of Chattanooga.

County Tax Deadline Delayed Until Dec. 31

Fulton county's deadline for payment of 1932 state and county taxes without penalty, and other penalties has been postponed from Monday until December 31, George H. Longino, chairman of the county finance committee, announced Monday night. Seventy-five per cent, or $3,000,000, of the 1932 taxes remain uncollected. Mr. Longino said that inclement weather prevented many persons from getting to the offices of Tax Collector W. S. Richardson, and that the county wishes to collect all taxes possible before the end of the year, when the county's $2,100,000 loan matures. Seven per cent interest will be charged on unpaid taxes after December 31. The tax collector's office Monday was crowded all day with taxpayers.

Christmas Shoppers will find special reductions for this week here.

We want you to make this your headquarters while shopping, as we are very convenient to Post Office, street cars and parking lots.

McKellar Asks Slash In Air Mail Funds

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—(AP)—Reduction of the postoffice department's air mail appropriation from $19,000,000 to $9,000,000 was proposed today in an amendment to the treasury-postoffice supply bill submitted to a senate appropriations committee by Senator McKellar, democrat, Tennessee.

The amendment, on which the committee expects to vote tomorrow, also included instructions to the postmaster-general to effect such reduction of air mail routes as necessary to bring the cost of the service within the reduced appropriation.

Another provision would prohibit extension of existing contracts and lines, and ban new contracts.

McKellar said he planned a similar amendment covering funds for ocean mail contracts.

GUY ORDERED HELD ON KILLING CHARGE

Wanderwell's Widow Shakes Hands With Accused Man at Hearing.

LONG BEACH, Cal., Dec. 19.—(P)—William J. Guy, 24-year-old adventurer, was held for superior court trial after a preliminary hearing today on a charge of killing Captain Walter Wanderwell aboard the schooner yacht Carma in Long Beach harbor.

Mrs. Aloha Wanderwell, widow of the globe trotter, stirred curiosity of courtroom spectators by walking over to shake hands with Guy after she testified he had threatened her husband.

The widow and the attractive young soldier of fortune talked several minutes, occasionally smiling, but what they discussed was not disclosed. Cuthbert Willis, chief engineer of the Carma, identified Guy as the stranger in gray seen with Wanderwell shortly before he was shot to death in his cabin the night of December 18.

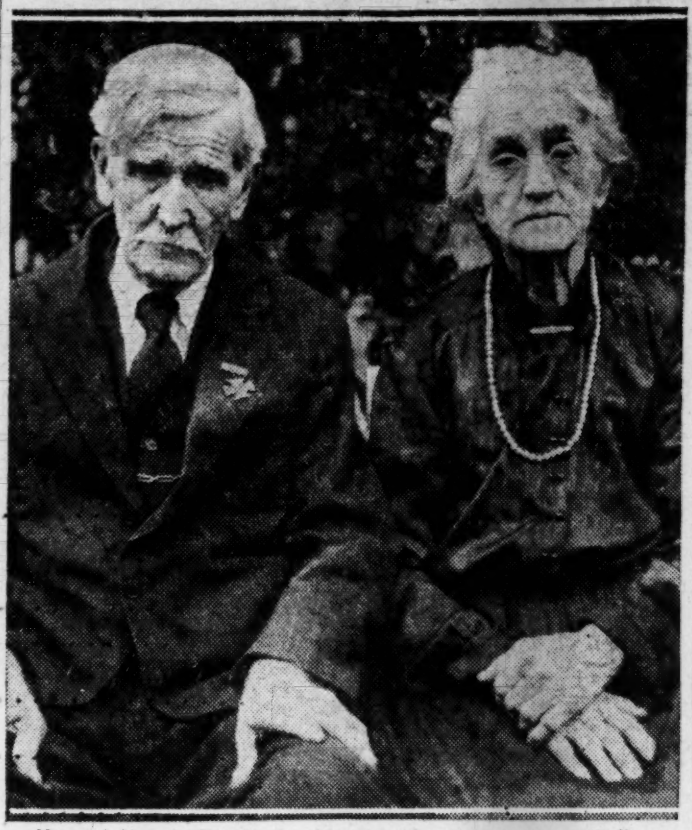

Miss Marian Smith, of Rockmart, Ga., one of the oddly assorted "crew" which had taken passage with Wanderwell on a projected south seas and world tour, also identified Guy as the man at the porthole.

She said she was in the dining salon of the yacht with Willis and two other members of the party when the stranger appeared.

Miss Smith exchanged smiles with the boyish, nobly-dressed defendant, and while she was being cross-examined, Guy's attorneys admonished him to stop laughing. He and other witnesses seemed amused at the girl's efforts to describe the clothing of the killer and his actions.

Her sister, Miss Mary Smith, another member of the yacht group, was called before the court when a defense attorney questioned her right to take notes on the hearing, charging she was assisting her sister, Marian, in her testimony. Mary Smith explained, however, that she was the secretary of the expedition and was taking notes for some fiction she intends to write.

Passing of Mrs. B. T. Wilson Follows Mate's by 16 Days

Mr. and Mrs. B. T. Wilson, shown at their home at 220 Wellington street as they celebrated their 61st wedding anniversary last March. Mrs. Wilson, who was 83, died Sunday, 16 days following the death of her husband, who was 85. The funeral will be held this morning.

Funeral services for Mrs. B. T. Wilson, 83, whose death Sunday followed that of her 85-year-old husband by 16 days, will be held at 11 o'clock this morning at the Calvary Methodist church, of which Mr. and Mrs. Wilson were charter members and active workers. The Rev. W. M. Albert and the Rev. Mr. Barnett will officiate, and interment will be in Hollywood cemetery.

Mrs. Wilson, who resided at 220 Wellington street, became ill when her husband fell and broke his hip November 15. He died December 2. The shock and grief over her husband's death hastened Mrs. Wilson's passing, relatives said.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson were married 61 years ago and their anniversary was celebrated last March. Mr. Wilson, a Confederate veteran and a retired contractor, was a constant reader of the Atlanta Constitution, having read every issue from the first until that of November 15, when he fell, it was said.

His daughter, Mrs. John W. Ward, a son, Willie R. Wilson, seven grandchildren and five great-grandchildren survive. H. M. Patterson & Son are in charge.

Receipts for 1932 showed the following comparative figures: Rentals for leased roads, $342,602.57; miscellaneous rentals, $165,215.47, making a total of $507,818.04, or a deficit for 1931 of $591,737.10.

On city tax accounts due December 1, the Central owes about $27,000 on its own road, less than $1,000 on the holding company's account, and the account of the Terminal Company shows a debit of approximately $10,000.

The $5,000 annuity to the city was paid by the Central some two weeks ago.

Books will be closed tomorrow for payment of 1932 county taxes, and the railroad owes $40,082.22 on its own account. ## BANKRUPTCY IS FILED BY HOWARD CLEANERS

150 Establishments in 15-City Chain Include 17 Branches in Atlanta.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Dec. 19.—(P)—A voluntary petition in bankruptcy was filed in United States district court here today by Howard Cleaners, operators of 150 establishments in 15 cities.

A. J. P. Vandermyn, who came here from Pittsburgh six months ago to assume the presidency of the company, was appointed operating receiver in this district. Petitions asking for his appointment as ancillary receiver in other court jurisdictions were mailed yesterday.

The company had its beginning in a small Atlanta cleaning and pressing shop chain, owned by C. E. W. D. and T. W. Howard. On April 1, 1929, it was chartered under the laws of Delaware and started a phenomenal growth. The first year its profits were $145,000.

J. E. McCadden, attorney for the company, said that much of its present difficulty was due to store leases signed in boom times and a drop in gross income below the $45,000 a month needed to meet operating expenses.

Mr. McCadden said that he believed "a satisfactory settlement" would eventually be made to stockholders as the best units of the chain would be disposed of as going concerns either at private or public sale.

No schedule of assets and liabilities was included in the petition filed today. A complete list will be filed within 10 days, Mr. McCadden said.

The Howard Cleaners system operates 17 stores in Atlanta under the management of Albert F. Runn, who Monday night said that the Atlanta stores did not show any loss until November. The Atlanta stores handle approximately $75,000 worth of business a year, he said. Runn said he knew nothing of the receivership plans.

Agent Named. BOSTON, Dec. 19.—(P)—The Eastern Steamship Lines, Inc., today announced the appointment of John Kilpatrick, as central agent for its lines with offices at Boston. Kilpatrick, now general agent of the corporation at Richmond, Va., will assume his new duties January 16.

ACCORD IS SOUGHT BY PAUL-BONCOUR

French Premier Hopes for U. S. Agreement to New Debt Negotiations.

By RALPH HEINZEN.

PARIS, Dec. 19. (UP)—The new government headed by Joseph Paul-Boncour will seek to obtain parliamentary permission to meet the war debt payment due the United States at the earliest possible moment, the United States learned today after the cabinet had met for the first time.

Premier Paul-Boncour and his ministers hope to obtain assurance from Washington that the United States will agree to negotiate a new debt agreement with France, thus making it possible for the chamber of deputies to vote for payment.

Henry Cheron, the new minister of finance, spent the day drafting the government's financial program. The cabinet, it is understood, does not demand a general world conference on debts but will be satisfied with a Franco-American discussion. Such a policy is to be pursued on the basis of reported assurance from both President Hoover and Secretary of State Stimson that the United States is willing to engage in debt conversations.

Premier Paul-Boncour, in an exclusive interview with the United Press today, pledged himself to seek relief from the tension that has developed between France and the United States over the debt payment.

Though refusing to take a definite personal stand either for or against payment, the premier declared that "I am for a friendly understanding between our peoples, and I seek peace and prosperity for France and the rest of the world."

Edouard Herriot, meanwhile, buying himself by moving his personal effects from the historic mansion which houses the foreign office to a downtown Boulevard hotel, talked with a United Press correspondent.

"My principles are unchanged," he said, "I still stand for payment of the debt, and for respect of signatures. I feel that those who voted me down will, sooner or later, realize the wisdom of my purpose. For France's whole foreign policy is based on a respect for existing treaties."

Bright Star Eclipsed By Shadow of Moon

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Dec. 19. (AP)—The star Regulus, one of the brightest in the heavens, was totally eclipsed by the moon Sunday for a period of several minutes.

The Harvard observatory, in announcing the eclipse, said that while the moon often eclipses stars, it is a comparatively rare occurrence for a star of the magnitude of Regulus to be eclipsed for several minutes so completely. It afforded stargazers an opportunity for checking the correctness of their calculations of the moon's wandering through the skies, the observatory said.

Soldiers Ready To Defend Nation's Rights With Blood, Says Paper.

MOSCOW, Dec. 19. (AP)—The Tass (Russian) News Agency correspondent at Teheran, Persia, today reprinted an article from the newspaper Sheta E Serkh which said that every Persian soldier was "ready with his own blood to defend the interests of the country" in the controversy over Persia's oil rights.

The article criticized officials of the company, saying they had failed to revise the concession as they had promised. (Persia cancelled the concession several weeks ago and Great Britain filed a protest, referring the dispute to the League of Nations council.)

The company tried by means of different flattering promises and deceptions practiced on members of the Persian government to make the world believe the concession had been sanctioned, the Teheran paper said, as reported by the Tass correspondent.

NEW YORK, Dec. 19. (AP)—Maude Adams will return to the Broadway stage next fall for the first time in 16 years, opening an engagement in a play being written especially for her by Philip Barry.

Later she presented her 300-acre estate at Ronkonkoma, L. I., to the sisters in appreciation of their care for her. In her new play she will have the role of a nun.

Although Miss Adams went on tour last year in "The Merchant of Venice," her last appearance on Broadway was in "A Kiss for Cinderella" in 1917.

Barry is the author of several well known plays, including "The Animal Kingdom," "Holiday" and "Hotel Universe."

Oglethorpe To Open 1933 Football Schedule With Newberry Here

BREAK of the DAY

By Ralph McKee

WITH GEORGIA TECH FOOTBALL TEAM, SAN PEDRO, Cal. (By airmail)—It was from this port, from which the Georgia Tech football team sails for home, that William Walker sailed with his motley crew following a wild, mad dream.

There are a few books left about William Walker, "the gray-eyed man of destiny." There are some stories of how he and his men, with fever-worn bodies, held off with their 2,000 rifles an army of 20,000.

And there is an iron plaque in an old drab lot in Nashville, Tenn., which says simply that the home in which William Walker was born once stood there.

It does not tell all the story. He was a young lawyer but there was a restlessness in him which would not let him be still. He had a mad, fantastic scheme for founding a government in South America which would be a model for them all. And he got his crew. There were a few of the tall Tennesseans with whom his forefathers had gone on seeking frontiers. And he got others here.

And he founded his government in Honduras and it was a good one. But in the end he and his two thousand hollow-eyed soldiers were routed and William Walker and his fantastic dream died against an adobe wall before the smoking rifles of a firing squad.

And standing here at the waterfront with the Georgia Tech team gives one a peculiar pull—to know that it was from here that William Walker sailed away with his motley crew bent on establishing an empire.

Great names stalk through one's memory as he stands at the San Francisco waterfront. There are the smells of the water and the fruit and the tar and the cargoes that come and go.

And one wonders what it was like when Juan Cabrillo, the Portuguese navigator, sailed his Spanish ship into the bay here in 1542.

And one can go to the public library and read the copy of Sir Francis Drake's log when he sailed his ship, The Golden Hind, into the bay here on his trip around the world. That was in 1579. He wrote, in his queer style, that the Indians were kind and hospitable and that he was sorry when he had to sail away.

And today the great harbor with its golden gate and the high hills and forts guarding it, see the fleets of the world come and go. Foreign flags fly in the wind and foreign tongues are heard along the docks.

But somehow William Walker and his crew setting out from here stick most in one's mind.

THAT'S A LIVING IN THEM HILLS.

On the way out, with the weather 40 below zero and more, George Vierick, Tech end, stepped from the train at a small station high in the mountains. There were a couple of youngsters there, about 9 years old.

"What's in those mountains, son?" asked Vierick. "There's a living in those mountains if you have a pick and a wheelbarrow and are willing to work," said the youngster calmly.

"What does your father do?" asked Vierick. "He works," said the boy, a bit grimly, "he doesn't have time to ride Pullmans."

It isn't really a story but somehow it stuck—he was so deadly serious.

PICTURES SHOW WHY IRISH LOST.

Movies of the Southern California triumph over Notre Dame, seen in company with Coach Alexander and Bill Ingram, the latter being coach of the California team, showed that Notre Dame was tackling and blocking poorly. They had no leg drive in either of those most important fundamentals of play.

Southern California was tackling and blocking hard and their secondary defense was coming up fast. Notre Dame was clearly outplayed.

The general opinion seems to be that next fall will see some changes in the style of play employed by Notre Dame coaches. Frank Thomas, at Alabama, seems to have abandoned it. His team did not employ the shift more than ten times in the St. Mary's game.

Figure Is Dead

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 19.—(AP)—Official scorer for the Pittsburgh Pirates' baseball club for 40 years, John H. Gruber, 71, first man to tabulate batting averages—a milestone in sports writing—has passed on of the major league ball parks for good.

Gruber, whose interest in baseball transformed him from a typesetter to a sports editor and finally to a statistician of the game, died at his home shortly before midnight last night, a victim of bronchial pneumonia.

Born at New Albany, Ind., in 1853, he went to work as a printer on the Pittsburgh Times in 1880. The paper carried the standing of the old American association, copying them from the Cincinnati press.

The figures were usually several days old as Gruber volunteered to keep the standings each evening and the managing editor at last agreed to try the experiment.

"But the feature looks queer, just standing by itself," he told the editor, adding "I'll write a few lines of introduction."

In a recent interview the veteran said "that is the way I started keeping batting and fielding averages also."

Explaining that he later became sports editor, Gruber said: "By George, I shake yet when I think how little I knew. I got through work sometimes as early as midnight and I would sit up until 5 o'clock in the morning and study up on sports."

"Boxing, trotting, seulling, I kept records on all of them." After serving on several papers in the role of sports writer and editor, Gruber was appointed official scorer for the Pirates in 1903, holding the post without interruption until his death.

The veteran, widely known throughout the baseball world, remembered the days when players wore fierce-looking mustaches.

"Jim Tatum," he declared "wore the last mustache in baseball. You could see his mustache coming before you could see his face."

Boys' High Squad

Resumes Practice

Despite decidedly unfavorable weather conditions Boys' High's city and state championship football team resumed practice early Monday afternoon at Piedmont park in preparation for a December 31 charity game at Houston, Texas, with the Houston all-stars.

Only light work was attempted and the majority of the afternoon's activities consisted of punting and passing and a long session of calisthenics to get the boys back in condition after a week's rest.

Another light session is scheduled for Tuesday with a dummy scrimmage set for Wednesday and a rough workout Thursday or Friday, depending entirely on the weather.

With the exception of Rudy Atkinson, quarterback who is suffering from an attack of influenza, all of the boys reported to be in fair shape.

Several players who suffered with the "flu" last week are back in the afternoon drill and will be ready for action when the rough work is called for.

Bears To Open

With Moccasins

MACON, Ga., Dec. 19.—(AP)—Mercer's Bears will open their official basketball season in Macon Thursday, January 5, with the University of Chattanooga Moccasins furnishing opposition.

It will be the second straight season that the Bruins will have had their official opening with their old Tennessee rival.

Five players who probably will be the first string team for Coach Lake Russell now are on a tour of south Georgia for the holidays, playing under the name of the Mercer Ramblers.

They are Bob Smith, center, Popok, Bowe Gray, Nat Reaser and Cotton Harrison.

Popok and Gray are playing forward, Smith center, and Harrison and Reaser guards. Reaser sometimes shifts to center and Smith to guard.

Johnny Wilkes, great forward, is the biggest loss to the Bear squad. Gray, a sophomore, who appears to be a basket hawk, may be the man to replace him.

Mercer will play home games with Georgia and Tech. A couple of trips are being planned.

MARTIN HAS FLU.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Dec. 19.—(AP)—John D. Martin is keeping the president of the Southern Association of Baseball Clubs, until he recovers from influenza. Mr. Martin is better now but he has had some uncomfortable days.

NEWMAN TELLS OF HIS CAREER AS STAR BACK

Star Writes of Purdue Upset and "Wisconsin Pass."

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first of a series of seven articles in which Harry Newman tells how it feels to be an All-American football star. Newman's passing and defensive work won many games for the University of Michigan and his place kicking in the final game with Minnesota gave his team the Mid-Western conference championship.

By Harry Newman, All-American Quarterback.

(Copyright, 1932, by the North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.) ANN ARBOR, Mich., Dec. 19.—Except for the satisfaction of being selected as All-American quarterback this year, I feel no differently now than when I was wriggle on the bench, yearning for a chance to get into some real football action.

Following a successful high school career in Detroit, I entered college football with many hopes and aspirations. Although I worked hard and continued to hope, by dreams seemed dim and distant. The starting line-up for the 1930 Purdue game at Ann Arbor was announced by Coach Harry Kipke in the varsity locker room during the time which preceded the game.

My name was not listed and I scrambled for a seat on the bench. Still, the game wasn't over and I felt sure Coach Kipke would give me an opportunity to play.

And one wonders what it was like when Juan Cabrillo, the Portuguese navigator, sailed his Spanish ship into the bay here in 1542.

BABE DIDRIKSON YEAR'S LEADING GIRL ATHLETE

Helene Madison Is Voted Second Honors in Press Poll.

By Alan Gould, Associated Press Sports Editor.

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—(AP)—The country's sports experts experienced no difficulty whatever in singling out the feminine performer most entitled to recognition as America's outstanding girl athlete of 1932.

She is Mildred Babe Didrikson, Texas "wonder girl," double Olympic champion and, in the opinion of many observers, the greatest all-around athlete her sex has ever known, regardless of an issue now over her amateur standing.

Out of a total of 199 votes cast in the second annual Associated Press poll, Miss Didrikson received 77, nearly 40 per cent.

Her nearest rival, Helene Madison, Seattle's record-breaking champion of all women free-style swimmers, polled 45 votes to finish a good second. Another far westerner, Helen Wills Moody, queen of the tennis courts for years, occupied third place with 21 votes.

In a close contest for fourth place, the new national golf champion, Virginia Van Wie, of Chicago, emerged with a three-vote margin over Eleanor Holm, slim and pretty champion of the backstroke swimmers. Their totals were 16 and 13.

Miss Didrikson's performances were ranked by many sports observers as superior, relatively speaking, to the accomplishments of any masculine stars of the year. Her vote, too, was larger in the Associated Press than that accorded Gene Sarazen, picked as the outstanding performer among the men.

The Texas girl, all by herself, won or tied for first in a half dozen events in the national women's track and field championships, collecting enough points to win the team title.

She captured the Olympic javelin throw and 80-meter hurdles with world-record performances and finished second to Jean Shiley in the high jump. She has played football, is a star at basketball and wallballs a golf ball well over 200 yards.

The results of the Associated Press poll follow: Babe Didrikson, Olympic champion and all-around star, 77; Helene Madison, world free-style swimming champion, 45; Helen Wills Moody, world tennis champion, 21; Virginia Van Wie, national golf champion, 16; Eleanor Holm, backstroke swimmer, 13; Helen Jacobs, American tennis champion, 6; Stella Walsh, Olympic sprint champion, 5; Katherine Rawls, national swimming champion, 3; Glenn Cole, former national golf champion, 2; Amelia Earhart, aviator, 1; Dorothy Poynton, diving star, 1; Maureen O'Connell, golfer, 1.

PICTURES SHOW WHY IRISH LOST.

Movies of the Southern California triumph over Notre Dame, seen in company with Coach Alexander and Bill Ingram, the latter being coach of the California team, showed that Notre Dame was tackling and blocking poorly. They had no leg drive in either of those most important fundamentals of play.

Southern California was tackling and blocking hard and their secondary defense was coming up fast. Notre Dame was clearly outplayed.

The general opinion seems to be that next fall will see some changes in the style of play employed by Notre Dame coaches. Frank Thomas, at Alabama, seems to have abandoned it. His team did not employ the shift more than ten times in the St. Mary's game.

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 19.—(AP)—Official scorer for the Pittsburgh Pirates' baseball club for 40 years, John H. Gruber, 71, first man to tabulate batting averages—a milestone in sports writing—has passed on of the major league ball parks for good.

Gruber, whose interest in baseball transformed him from a typesetter to a sports editor and finally to a statistician of the game, died at his home shortly before midnight last night, a victim of bronchial pneumonia.

Born at New Albany, Ind., in 1853, he went to work as a printer on the Pittsburgh Times in 1880. The paper carried the standing of the old American association, copying them from the Cincinnati press.

The figures were usually several days old as Gruber volunteered to keep the standings each evening and the managing editor at last agreed to try the experiment.

"But the feature looks queer, just standing by itself," he told the editor, adding "I'll write a few lines of introduction."

In a recent interview the veteran said "that is the way I started keeping batting and fielding averages also."

Explaining that he later became sports editor, Gruber said: "By George, I shake yet when I think how little I knew. I got through work sometimes as early as midnight and I would sit up until 5 o'clock in the morning and study up on sports."

"Boxing, trotting, seulling, I kept records on all of them." After serving on several papers in the role of sports writer and editor, Gruber was appointed official scorer for the Pirates in 1903, holding the post without interruption until his death.

The veteran, widely known throughout the baseball world, remembered the days when players wore fierce-looking mustaches.

"Jim Tatum," he declared "wore the last mustache in baseball. You could see his mustache coming before you could see his face."

THE SPORTLIGHT

Songs of Christmas. TO A KID.

"Come and play with me," you call, "Here's the drum and here's the horn—Here are soldiers in the hall And the cow that's in the barn—Where the holly wreaths adorn Shadows lurking on the wall."

Little voice that whispers low That I take the way with you—O, how I would like to go To the place where dreams come true; Through the mists that cloud the view To the ways I used to know.

"Come with me," you plead, "and play"—I shall come, nor shall you know, Kid, how far and far away I am from you as we go. Where the echoes whisper low Of a vanished yesterday.

Little voice that calls to me, At the threshold I may stand, But it may not ever be, Though you take me by the hand, That I enter morning land Or recall my Argosy.

Craig Wood Arrives. Back in the United States open of 1928 at Olympia Fields, Chicago, a dashing young golfer by the name of Craig Wood began to attract considerable attention. Wood was a young blond giant from Kentucky and New Jersey, and he was hitting the ball far and straight with a smooth, compact swing.

After his second round, a 70-1 record in California from fast fields. His first success came in the match play event. Wood followed this victory by landing the 1932 U. S. Open with a remarkable score of 278-1 strokes beyond the field.

His four rounds average 69 1/2 strokes, a matter of 10 under even 4's for the entire journey. Wood is around 60 feet in height, weighing 200 pounds. He is striking looking, powerful built—the type that might take the lead in some motion picture.

One of the remarkable features of his play at Pasadena was the fact that through his first 30 holes he failed to miss a single green in par play, which is complete testimony concerning his control.

With these two important successes to build up his confidence—a potent factor in golf—Wood may pick up the same fast pace that brought gold and fame to young Horton Smith three years ago.

At least his showing adds more interest to tournament golf, as it gives the sport another outstanding name. The sport another outstanding name.

PETRELS PLAY CAROLINA TEAM IN NIGHT GAME

Games Also Added With Stetson and Citadel; 8 Now Scheduled.

By Jimmy Jones. Two downtown night games, both to be played at Ponce de Leon park, have been added to Oglethorpe University's 1933 football schedule, it was learned yesterday.

The Stormy Petrels of Peachtree road will officially open their season here on Thursday night, September 21, playing Newberry College of Newberry, S. C. under the lights at the park. This game opens the Petrels' grid card a full week earlier, as the contest was originally scheduled on September 30, was originally scheduled as the opener.

MEET STETSON. Another newcomer to the Petrels' schedule are the Stetson University Hatters of Deland, Fla., who will be met at Ponce de Leon in a night game on October 19, it also was learned.

A game with The Citadel, scheduled to be played either here or in Charleston, S. C., has been tentatively set for November 4. The addition of these three games brings the Petrels' 1933 slate to eight games. There are two more games scheduled and the school now are seeking to fill them.

It will be noted that seven of the Petrels' eight games are with southern teams, thereby bearing out a decision of the school made recently to confine its playing to schools in its own section as much as possible. Manhat-tan, Chick Meehan's eleven, which will be met in New York again, is the only inter-sectional opponent on the schedule.

The two downtown games also are an innovation. In recent seasons, the Petrels have been playing virtually all their games at Hernando field. Last year they played only one game downtown, the opener with Howard.

EIGHT GAMES. The 1933 schedule is attractive for other reasons also, one of them being the return of Chattanooga, old rival, to the schedule, and the scheduling of the Alabama game. Erskine College, of Due West, S. C., is another newcomer.

The annual banquet of the team and election of a 1933 captain will be held immediately after the holidays. Following is the Oglethorpe schedule as arranged to date.

September 21—Newberry at Ponce de Leon park (night game). September 28—Howard at Tualoos. October 7—Manhattan in New York. October 19—Stetson in Charleston. November 4—The Citadel (place pending). November 11—Open. November 18—Open. November 30—Mercer at Hernando field.

Yankees Book 28 Spring Games. NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—(AP)—The World Champion New York Yankees announced today a schedule of 28 spring training games through the long campaign without a single defeat, boarded Pullmans late last night, promising well-wishing fans "We'll climb the walls of Troy."

Harpster is one of the highest types in football. He has the full confidence of Judge Walter Stetten and the Carnegie team in every contest, where his judgment was always good and where his personality was a striking factor.

Young Howard has had more than his share of success at Geneva and is sure to reach a high place among the coaching corps in Tucson, Ariz., where they will arrive Wednesday night.

After a 15-minute layover at St. Louis, the first stop on the Odyssey will continue on to Dallas, Texas, for its second pause, arriving there Tuesday, and thence to Tucson, where they will arrive Wednesday night.

The team, when faced with Southern California's pass offense, as depicted by "old grads" in a variety of ways Saturday, appeared woefully weak.

As the train pulled out of the Pennsylvania station, fans joined in an echoing chorus, "Claw 'em, Tiger!"

Twinkling Lights on City's Lawns Spread Cheer at Christmas Season

By BEN COOPER.

Warmth of the old-fashioned Christmas, with its lighted wreaths at the windows, will be surpassed this season when Atlantans light living trees on their lawns.

The Camp Fire Girls, joint sponsors with The Constitution of the Light the Living Trees movement, expect many more trees to be lighted this year than in past Christmas seasons. Many converts to the idea of lighting living trees on lawns have been made by the Camp Fire Girls. As in the past, many sections of Atlanta will be lined with twinkling colored lights, sending the cheerful glow of good fellowship over the landscape. Camp Fire Girls turning in the largest number of names of living tree lighters will be given a Christmas Eve party at the Fox theater.

If you are planning to light a living tree, please call the Camp Fire Girls, Walnut 3738, or The Constitution, Walnut 6565, and give in your name and address. Among those who will light living trees are: Mrs. Sam Gur, 1609 North Decatur road; Mrs. W. H. Craig, 580 Linwood; Mrs. W. E. Crane, 691 Woodland, S. E.; Mrs. E. R. White, 821 Moreland, S. E.; Mrs. E. M. Barton, 991 Delaware; Mrs. L. E. Rutledge, 594 Gresham, S. E.; C. M. Barnwell, 901 Oakdale road; Mrs. Frank B. Pong, 628 South McDonald; Mrs. M. C. Adair, 1375 Emory drive; Mrs. M. Alexander, 1112 Brookwood; Mrs. T. Benjamin Holpever, 859 Springdale road.

Special Matinee for Children Will Provide Food for Needy

Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock there will be a special matinee for children at the Paramount theater. Admission will not be by money, but by food. Each child—all must be under 15—should bring a can of vegetables or fruit, a cake or package of cookies, meat or flour or sugar or tea or coffee, or anything eatable. After the performance these food-stuffs will be taken to the Salvation Army where they will be distributed among families who face a scanty Christmas unless someone helps to provide the Christmas dinner.

And on Thursday, at the same hour, the same program will be repeated, but this time for poor children who cannot afford to bring either food or money to get in. Admission on Thursday will be by tickets which are distributed without cost by the Salvation Army.

At the Thursday party Santa Claus will welcome the youngsters and will provide candy, fruit and other goodies for them. These are being contributed by generous merchants, while the two matinee parties are sponsored by The Constitution, the Paramount theater and the Atlanta Better Films Committee.

The programs will include that greatest of all boy pictures, "Huckleberry Finn," with special comedies, cartoons and other short subjects of special interest to children. "Smilin' Al" Evans at the big Wurlitzer organ will give a special program of children's songs in which all the youngsters can join by singing.

Each program will last for two hours and will constitute two splendid Christmas theater parties for the children of Atlanta, both those who can afford to go to the theater and those who, were the second matinee not free, could not.

Better Than Whiskey For Colds and Coughs

The sensation of the drug trade is Aspirinal, the two-minute relief for colds and coughs due to colds. Authoritatively guaranteed by the laboratories, tested, approved and most enthusiastically endorsed, and proclaimed by the people as ten times as quick and effective as whiskey, cough and croup, or any other cold and cough remedy they have ever tried.

All drug stores are supplied with the wonderful elixir, so all you have to do is to step into the nearest drug store, ask for a bottle of Aspirinal and tell the clerk to serve you two teaspoonfuls. With your watch in your hands, take the drink at one swallow and call for your money back in two minutes if you cannot feel the distressing symptoms of your cold or cough fading away within the time limit. Don't be bashful, for all druggists invite you and expect you to try it. Everybody's doing it.

Take the remainder of the bottle home to your wife and children, for Aspirinal is by far the safest and most effective, the easiest to take and the most agreeable cold and cough remedy for children as well as adults. Quick relief for catarrhal croup and children's choking up at night. (adv.)

Negro Given Retrial.

Weyman Robinson, a negro, convicted by a jury in superior court on October 6 of fatally stabbing Dennis Dorsey, a negro woman, was granted a new trial Monday by Judge John D. Humphries. The negro then pleaded guilty on the charge of manslaughter and was given a sentence of from 7 to 12 years on the chain gang.

Virginia Man's Widow Leaps to Death in Bay

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—(AP)—Mrs. T. Foster Gaines, of 56 East 87th street, whose husband, a real estate man who became originally from Warrenton, Va., died two weeks ago, ended her life by leaping from the Staten Island ferry boat Knickerbocker.

The boat was approximately 300 yards from South Ferry when she jumped. A lifeboat crew picked her up and she was taken back to South Ferry, where the ambulance surgeon and a police emergency crew worked for nearly an hour in a vain attempt to revive her.

Her Japanese butler told police she left her apartment about 10:30 today, presumably for a shopping trip. The husband, who was in the real estate business, was in the real estate office at 14 Maiden Lane, was a member of the New York Southern Society, the Virginia Society, and was survived by a sister, Mrs. J. Bidle, of Warrenton, Va.

Mrs. Gaines, the former Olea Da Silva, was a member of a Stamford (Conn.) family. She was about 68 years old and had been married to Gaines for 37 years.

Philippine Bill Sent to Committee

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—(AP)—The house today referred the Philippine independence bill, passed by the senate, to a conference committee for adjustment of differences between that measure and the one passed by the house last session.

TEN 'COMMUNISTS' DEPORTED BY CANADA

HALIFAX, N. S., Dec. 19.—(AP)—Nine men were reported today to have been put aboard the liner Dresden for deportation as communists. A series of legal battles for the men's freedom had been waged since an immigration tribunal decided they plotted to overthrow the government by force through membership in organizations declared to be affiliated with the communist party.

The Royal Canadian mounted police arrested them in various Canadian cities last May.

TWO HELD IN KILLING OF OAKFIELD NEGROES

Hapeville police Monday were holding two negroes on suspicion in connection with the murder of Clifford Kears, well-to-do negro of the Oakfield section, near Warwick, and his wife. The suspects, who gave the names of Sandy Walker and James Thomas, were arrested Sunday night when they jumped from a car and ran while police were looking for parties who broke into a store at Jonesboro.

Chief W. F. Whitaker, of Hapeville, said that the tag and motor numbers of the car in which Walker and Thomas were riding checked with the numbers furnished him as those of a car stolen from Kears, the negroes claimed that a man let them have the car in Macon, Chief Whitaker said. Officers from Silverstar will call for the prisoners today, Chief Whitaker was informed. Kears was active in republican political affairs in his section, it was said.

U. S. WILL NOT CARRY MANCHUKUAN PARCELS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—(AP)—Americans expecting Christmas gifts from Manchukuo through the United States mails will be disappointed. Uncle Sam is blind to stamps of the new Henry Pu-Yi government on first-class mail. His carriers are delivering letters carrying the young Asiatic republic's postage tokens which show the picture of a buddhist temple, but the state and post office departments decided today that this blindness shall not extend to parcels and money orders.

TEN STATES SPENDING $78,000,000 ON ROADS

4,500 Miles of Paving Going Down Dirt Roads Being Improved.

More than 4,500 miles of hard-surfaced roads and a greater mileage of improved dirt roads are going down in Dixie's $78,000,000 road building program in eight of 10 southern states.

Construction figures for 1932 in most states and for the first six months of the 1933-34 fiscal year in others show $78,499,146 has been spent in the south's program to improve its highways and at the same time furnish employment for the needy.

Louisiana, with 1,748.6 miles of roads in a $26,113,893 program, leads the entire group in mileage and cost of the work, with Virginia with a $13,000,000 expenditure for some 310 miles of road second.

Georgia closely follows Virginia with a $9,161,544 program covering 403.801 miles of paving, 1,692.222 miles of grading and 40 bridges with federal aid and 7,574 miles of grading.

South Carolina's program calls for the expenditure of $2,500,000 for 277 miles of improved highways; North Carolina's total program runs to $2,000,000; Florida during the year disbursed $7,547,808.48 for highway construction; Alabama is working on a $5,116,458 emergency highway construction program which will carry over into the spring and perhaps into summer; Mississippi is spending $2,160,000, while Tennessee's program will run more than $7,000,000.

Federal engineers and Arkansas authorities have not agreed on the complete program in that state, but $4,500,000 is called for in the emergency program.

Rogers Stores To Honor Scrip Issued to Employees of Atlanta

Through an advertisement in today's Constitution, Rogers, Inc., owner of the Rogers chain of grocery stores in Atlanta and other portions of the southeast, announces that it will honor up to $50,000 worth of scrip issued by the city in payment of its salaries. Distribution of the scrip was begun on Monday.

The company's advertisement specifies that 25 per cent of any scrip presented at a Rogers store will be paid in cash and the rest in merchandise. If the balance is more than the holder wishes to put in merchandise at the time, due bills will be given for the rest. Thirty days are given the holder in which to take up his due bills.

Through this arrangement Rogers will absorb one eighth of the outstanding $400,000 issue of scrip. Asked about further details of the plan, Neal P. Ponder, advertising manager of the Rogers stores, explained its operation.

"It has always been the Rogers policy to co-operate with governmental authorities in any measure looking to the public welfare," Mr. Ponder said. "In this case Mr. Scott Allen and the other officers of the company realized the financial plight the city is in, and devised this plan."

"This will not only help the city in providing a ready use for its scrip, but will enable city workers to get cash and the equivalent of cash ready for their scrip. As far as Rogers is concerned, the scrip will be as good as money. The employees will suffer no delay or inconvenience because of the city's emergency method."

Mr. Ponder added that the Rogers stores had co-operated with both the city and the county in emergencies brought on by the present condition of business.

"For sometime now Rogers stores have carried old accounts for the city and county aggregating $203,000," Mr. Ponder said. "Included in this amount is the sum of $88,000 in warrants which in effect are contingent liabilities."

"The city and county fell short in their allotments for relief work. We supplied the necessary merchandise and carried the amounts on open account, without charging interest. Incidentally the Rogers stores are distributing 6,000 24-pound sacks of Red Cross flour a month, charging nothing for handling the distribution."

The Rogers proposal to handle city scrip is effective at once, Mr. Ponder said.

There is a ... Santa Claus

"FROM Greenland's Icy Mountains to India's Coral Strand" as the poet has sung it, there sweeps at this season the spirit of a universal holiday. It is The Christmas-Time.

In every known tongue some little one is lisping those words, which signify a mystic someone who showers material things that gladden the childish heart—Santa Claus.

Shall we in our mature complacency deny this benevolent personage, or shall we recognize in him the spirit of a great universal unselfishness which prompts us to look upon the world and our neighbor with a kinder eye? In this spirit surely we can all join in saying, "There is a Santa Claus."

Acquaintance begets friendship. Friendship leads to a sympathetic personal interest in the well-being of our friends. This year, in common with forty-four gone by, has given us many new acquaintances and has strengthened the ties which bind us to our older friends. To all these and to our unknown friends of the future, we extend the Season's Greetings and in the words of Dickens' immortal character, Tiny Tim, we say

"Merry Christmas! God bless us every one!"

Creditors' Attorney Seeks Securities Transfer to Holding Company.

NEW YORK, Dec. 19. (AP)—Lewis F. Jacobson, counsel for creditors of the Insull Utility Investments, Inc., said today his questioning of New York financiers was the groundwork for an attempt to have $20,000,000 in Insull securities, held by New York banks as collateral, turned into the general assets of the holding company.

The hearing before Referee in Bankruptcy John Joyce was adjourned today until January 4.

Atlanta Begins Distributing $400,000 Scrip to Workers

William A. Florence, assistant paymaster, and Miss Marie Aughtman, secretary to B. Graham West, city comptroller, are shown above top, with the new scrip, $400,000 worth of which will be distributed today for November payrolls of the municipality. Miss Aughtman was the first to get her payment. Florence is in charge of distribution. Staff photo by George Cornett.

Distribution of $400,000 worth of scrip for November salaries due 4,000 municipal employees was begun Monday and Atlanta merchants, urging employees to turn the money into retail channels, made attractive proposals for cashing it.

B. Graham West, city comptroller, through whose office the scrip was being distributed, was taking every precaution and was safeguarding it by every means at his command.

The scrip was virtually completed Monday, and distribution will be completed this afternoon. Council members also were paid with it at Monday's session. They and employees have received no payment for December services and probably will get no cash until after the first of the year.

Colonel F. J. Paxon, president of Davison-Paxon Company, Rich's, Inc., and Rogers, Inc., called on employees to visit their stores, promising redemption of the scrip, giving from 25 per cent in cash "to whatever is agreed upon after a conference with our executives."

Text of Colonel Paxon's statement, carried in an advertisement of this issue of The Constitution, follows: "There is no need for city employees to wait until completion of the issuance of the scrip several days from now to do their Christmas shopping."

"In order to co-operate with city employees in this emergency, the Davison-Paxon Company will take an assignment up to whatever amount is due each employee. As a result, all city employees can do their Christmas shopping now and turn their scrip over later."

"Davison-Paxon will not limit the city employees to any percentage of cash and merchandise. We will treat each case individually and do whatever the employee of the city asks us to do in reason."

"Atlanta is our city. We are Atlanta's store. This is one of our contributions to help and to make Christmas a merry one for city employees.

"These latter are invited to come to our offices on the fourth floor, where our executives will personally see to it that prompt and efficient attention is given the employees."

Municipal employees Monday received a circular letter from Rich's, Inc., offering to honor the scrip, giving one-half in cash and accepting the other half as payment for merchandise or as a credit on accounts. The letter had two options as follows:

1. One-half cash and the other half credited to account. (This will enable the employee to buy and charge additional purchases of an amount equaling the credit.)

2. One-half cash and the other half as a special credit account, the same to be established in the employee's name on Rich's books, and to be traded in merchandise at the employee's convenience.

The options were made available only to the original holder of the scrip, who must transfer it at Rich's fifth floor office.

Neal P. Ponder, advertising manager of Rogers, Inc., pointed out that their stores would receive $50,000 worth of the scrip, paying 25 per cent cash, as agreed to at a meeting of the Atlanta Retail Merchants' Association when the issuance of the scrip was pending in council.

"Our company is now holding $200,000 worth of old accounts from the city and county for purchases made for relief here," Ponder said. "We are glad to extend our services to aid employees in this emergency."

Thomas W. Clift, business manager of the school department, said teachers' salaries in scrip will be distributed to principals at 9 o'clock this morning at the city hall.

The scrip is in $10 denominations and 42,000 pieces were printed to make up the pay roll. It bears 6 per cent interest and is redeemable on or before March 1, 1933.

Along the stretch of road from Douglassville to Villa Rica and for a few miles beyond, the storm appeared to have reached its climax. The main street of Douglassville was set in a frame of "mother-of-pearl" trees which a Roman emperor might have envied, had they been real pearls instead of glue-tight, leaden-weighted sleet which bowed limbs of trees over in weird shapes and curves and which had caused electric power lines and telephone and telegraph lines to sag and sag until they snapped of their own weight.

"Ermine" on Right-of-Way.

All along the way from Douglassville to Villa Rica, the line of the Southern railway were a robe of ermine, with tendrils of white "fur" looped and twisted in odd and whimsical styles on both sides. The ermine again was sleet and the tendrils were telegraph and signal wires, drooping from broken poles and twisted "every which way." The rails looked black and sullen against the white of the banks, as if they resented the presence of this intruder—Sir Sleet—who made trains late and who caused sand and steel to crunch into the rails as brakes were set.

Forests of pines all were snowy, with twigs standing out as stiff as a boiled shirt. All they needed were a few candles to be real Christmas trees. Groves of less sturdy trees were bent over into odd lumps and bunches, limbs touching the ground and some tendrils stretching skyward as if entreating for relief. Streams rippled black as ink between blanched banks.

At Villa Rica again were dream streets of fairy splendor, with houses hidden behind dark banks of frozen branches. The little city might just as well have had "Nome, Alaska" printed on the station.

In Carrollton the spectacle of ice-bejeweled trees along the streets was repeated. Electric lights were burning, however, and it was evident that the storm had not been so severe.

Going west from Carrollton to Bremen, fields and forests frozen solid were to be seen. Just outside the limits of Bremen, a 110,000-volt power line crossed the highway on vast steel towers. It looked as sturdy as the rocks upon which it was founded, yet only a few hundred yards distant could be seen tower upon tower—41 giant steel structures in all—swept to earth by the fury of the sleet.

For nearly 100 miles of road, this was the spectacle of beauty and power which the storm had painted on forest and field and in valley and on the hillside. And if you believe the stories of the damage done by the storm, as exaggerated, go see for yourself—but put on the chains or walk a mile for a mile!

Picture of Beauty and Tragedy Painted by Georgia Sleet Storm

The following graphic word-picture of the north Georgia storm was written by William S. Howland, of the Georgia Power Company, who on Monday completed a 150-mile tour of the affected areas.—Editor's note.

Frosted forests of fantastic beauty; snowy fields of cotton blossoming with an icy bell into which no wind could bore; houses—rich and humble alike—trimmed with an "ermine" fringe of icicles; skeins of telephone and telegraph and electric power lines tangle as if the three fates themselves had been using them for their knitting; white-encrusted flower beds bordered by sleet-starched grass, standing upright as if wired; tiny tenant cabins so surrounded by trees bowed down with ice that the passer-by almost expected sealskin-clad Eskimos instead of rag-clad negroes to emerge from the crowd and above all a leaden sky, threatening more snow. That is the picture in white and gray and red mud revealed by a trip through the section of northwest Georgia which bore the brunt of the week-end sleet storm.

It is a picture of beauty and tragedy combined which makes Atlanta's experience of discomfort during the storm, had as it was, seem light by comparison, for Atlanta now has recovered to a large extent from the ravages which sleet wreaked upon transportation and communication during Friday night and Saturday.

Out in the country, where the damage was many times greater, in proportion, than in Atlanta, sleet still holds entire communities fast in its chilly embrace.

"Christmas" Countryside.

At first glance, the entire countryside from Atlanta south and west through Austell, Douglassville, Villa Rica, Carrollton, Bremen and Temple is the most "Christmas"-looking countryside this section of Georgia has seen for many a day. The hurrying wheels of commerce have churned the sleet and frozen snow from the main highways, but the white expanses stretch as far as the eye can see on both sides of the highway.

Against the background of white and under the drab canopy of a gray sky Monday afternoon, every country road leading off from the main highways was a red scar of mud on the landscape, gapping like an open wound in the serene spectacle of the snow. And woe betide any motorist who strayed from the straight and narrow concrete onto the side roads without chains. Little knots of men and mules here and there along the side roads told the fate of unwary or over-confident drivers who had landed in a ditch for their pains in braving the mud.

Along the stretch of road from Douglassville to Villa Rica and for a few miles beyond, the storm appeared to have reached its climax. The main street of Douglassville was set in a frame of "mother-of-pearl" trees which a Roman emperor might have envied, had they been real pearls instead of glue-tight, leaden-weighted sleet which bowed limbs of trees over in weird

Miss Neal and Mr. Young Wed At Home Ceremony in West Point

WEST POINT, Ga., Dec. 19.—(Continued from page 12.)—The marriage of Miss Dorothy Neal to James Luther Young, of LaGrange, which was quietly solemnized at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Wright Neal, on last Saturday morning at 9:30 o'clock, Rev. George L. King, pastor of the First Methodist church, West Point, performed the impressive ceremony.

The home was decorated in smilax, ferns and anemones. The bride and bridegroom entered the room together, and Miss Mildred Blackmon, of Greenville, Ga., played the wedding march. The best man was L. H. Young. During the ceremony Miss Blackmon played "To a Wild Rose."

The bride's wedding gown was a becoming spring model of pebble crepe, antique gold, with cutwork yoke over chiffon in matching colors. Crystal buttons, buckle and trimmings completed this, while the shoulder bouquet of valley lilies and Tallman roses also gave a harmony of color. The dress was made with puff sleeves, form-fitting waist and flared skirt. Brown hat, gloves, shoes and bag completed this costume. Her going-away gown was a tailored costume of black and white ostrich cloth. With this was worn a gray coat and black accessories.

There were present to witness this ceremony, which came as a surprise to the many friends of the young couple, Miss Blackmon, of Greenville, Ga., college roommate and chum of the bride; L. H. The Henrietta Eggleston Memorial hospital is the only one for children in Atlanta and was built in accordance with the will of the late Thomas Eggleston as a memorial to his mother. It is maintained by the Women's Auxiliary, which includes many civic clubs; by the Junior League, which supports a ward there, and by other appropriations. The hospital contains an incubator for premature babies, the Junior League ward for infants up to three years, the ward for children up to 12 years, and many private rooms on the third floor for patients who are able to pay. Many interesting cases come to the hospital from near and far distances, and the Junior League is ever thankful for its share in giving these unfortunate children the chance of becoming more healthful men and women.

The Junior League is only able to complete our annual program at the Henrietta Eggleston hospital by the cooperation and loyalty of our friends, and so we ask to them, as well as to the little ones in the hospital, "A Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year."

An additional part of our Christmas fund is being given this year through the Christmas Clearing Bureau to the Family Welfare society, we explained in last Tuesday's Jottings, it is felt in this way every person assisted may receive, without embarrassment, what each needs most, be it Christmas basket, clothes, a little coal, or a particular present craved by small Johnny or Mary.

The Junior League is also collecting old toys, but the response has not been as enthusiastic as might have been expected. The bad weather is partly responsible, of course, but there is still time for members to answer the plea. Mrs. John Fitts, at 730 Penn avenue, N. E., is storing the toys and later will take them to the Salvation Army to be reconditioned.

Mrs. Fitts, in addition, is Junior League Christmas basket chairman, and will both fill and have charge of delivering baskets to needy families of 27 little inmates or former inmates of the Henrietta Eggleston hospital. Assisting her will be Mrs. William Fulchum, chairman of our welfare work at the hospital, and a number of Junior Leaguers who will carry the baskets to their destinations.

JUNIOR LEAGUE JOTTINGS

Anyone who has spent Christmas in a hospital, knows what a dreary time it might be without family and friends cheerful. That is why the Junior League, the Eggleston Women's Auxiliary and the hospital staff play Santa Claus to the small patients in the Henrietta Eggleston Memorial hospital during the holidays, some of whose parents are too poor to visit.

Mrs. Claude McGinnis Jr., while others are too far away from their homes in the country.

The Women's Auxiliary decorates a tree in the nurses' home and gives an individual gift to every nurse living in the home. These presents are distributed at an annual Christmas Eve party, at the completion of which the nurses, in turn, arrange a tree for the hospital servants and at 7 o'clock Christmas morning every nurse receives gifts from the tree, both from the nurses and from each other.

Over in the hospital, the little boys and girls are included in the festivities, for the auxiliary decorates a tree for the older patients, while the Junior League always has one in our own ward; both trees being placed in position by the nurses while the children are asleep. Besides the tree, the Junior League fills a beautiful red tartan stocking for every child in the hospital, and many and varied are the toys found within.

Mrs. Claude McGinnis Jr., efficient chairman of the Junior League committees at the hospital arranged this year to have the stockings filled by her sewing club, all of whom are Junior Leaguers and to whom this duty held a particular appeal, because of the fact that three beds in the Junior League ward are named in memory of former members of the club, Louise Nelson Eckford, Corday Rice Nunnally and Catherine Raine Watson.

The Henrietta Eggleston Memorial hospital is the only one for children in Atlanta and was built in accordance with the will of the late Thomas Eggleston as a memorial to his mother. The ceremony was performed by Rev. F. E. Jenkins, pastor of Collins Memorial Methodist church, in the presence of relatives and a few close friends of the couple.

Before the mantel in the spacious living room were banked palms, ferns, smilax and ivy. Pedestal baskets holding white chrysanthemums were placed on either side, forming an improvised altar. Lighted candles at the altar, as well as in adjoining rooms, cast a soft glow over the scene.

Miss Saydie Fowler, an accomplished pianist, had charge of the musical program. Her opening number was Schubert's "Serenade." Mrs. Weyman Conway sang "At D. ring" and "Oh, Promise Me." As a processional Lohengrin's "Wedding March" was played, and during the ceremony Brahms' "Waltz Op. 14" was softly rendered. Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" was used as the recessional.

L. L. Culver's Death Is Laid to Apoplexy

A coroner's inquest Monday revealed apoplexy as the cause of the death Sunday of L. L. Culver, 66, former produce peddler, who was found dead in his bed at the Wesley Memorial dormitory. Dormitory attendants said Culver had refused anything but liquid food for the last three weeks.

NURSE EXPLAINS HER TRAGIC ERROR IN BABIES' DEATHS

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—(UP)—Nora S. Paulson, graduate nurse, came to the district attorney's office today and for an hour sat telling the tragic story of how an error caused the death of three babies.

She was a nurse at the New York hospital. Three infants in the nursery were pronounced by physicians as suffering from "dehydration." An injection of saline solution was ordered. Miss Paulson's duty was to prepare the solution.

She took a bottle from the closet shelf and from it prepared the solution. Miss Paulson said that the district attorney, Saul Price, Dr. Irving Lebel injected it in each of the three babies.

Three hours later she noted the children seemed ill. She went to the table where she had prepared the solution, she said, and found that the bottle she had used contained boric acid, not salt.

Saturday morning the first of the three infants, the five-day-old daughter of John Hughes and wife, died. A short time later the six-day-old son of Nicholas Rusinack and wife, also died. Yesterday, Mrs. Dolly Fields' five-day-old daughter died.

"It's just a sad mistake," said William M. Powell, attorney for the hospital, who appeared at the district attorney's office today. "The nurse was mistaken. She used boric acid instead of salt."

"Something like this has happened before," said Charles Norris, chief medical examiner. "Miss Paulson, whose identity was not revealed until today, had been prostrated since Saturday."

"The investigation is far from complete," said the comment of Assistant District Attorney Price.

Mary Nolan, Actress, Arrested in New York

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—(UP)—Mary Nolan, the actress, formerly known as Jeanne Wilson, was arrested in a Third Avenue theater where she was appearing in a vaudeville act today on a complaint forwarded from Minneapolis.

Police in Minneapolis said the complaint was based on a check for $347 presented to a hotel there last month and returned with the notation "No Funds." The complaint was issued there Friday.

Asked about the incident last week, Miss Nolan explained she had left the hotel a note to be redeemed upon her return to the east but that it had been refused. The hotel officials, she said, suggested she make out a check on some bank in New York.

She later was released in $1,500 bail in time to appear in her vaudeville act.

MITCHELL RAPS REPEAL AS SOLUTION OF CRIME

ST. PAUL, Minn., Dec. 19.—(UP)—Gangsters have become so strongly organized under prohibition that repeal of the dry laws will only "put a dent in their activities," Attorney General William D. Mitchell said in an address here tonight.

"Whatever may have been the extent of the influence of prohibition on the development of lawlessness, it is evident that under present conditions organized criminal activities in large cities have spread out to a point where abolition of illicit liquor traffic will make only a dent in the activities and revenues of organized crime," Mitchell said at the formal dedication of St. Paul's new $4,000,000 city hall overlooking the Mississippi river.

"Changes in our methods of liquor control which seem to be impending will not remove the crime problem," he prophesied.

GRAND JURY TO OPEN COUNTY PROBE TODAY

A sweeping survey of county affairs as well as a continuation of the probe of the office of the clerk of superior court, is expected to occupy the attention of the Fulton grand jury today in addition to its routine consideration of a number of bills.

All members of the county board of commissioners have been summoned as witnesses before the grand jury, it was learned Monday. For several weeks special audits made at request of judges of the superior court and of the board of commissioners concerning the various activities of the office of the clerk of superior court, are known to have been in the hands of the jury, and to have been considered at their last Friday's meeting.

FRIENDLY COUNSEL BY CAROLINE CHATFIELD

Problems of general interest submitted by readers will be discussed in this column. Correspondence invited. Your name held in confidence. Write Miss Chatfield, care The Atlanta Constitution.

Dear Miss Chatfield: I have a friend that everybody considers my pal. I think a lot of her in one way yet I get tired of her hanging on to me continually. The boys like me and they get awfully close with me because this girl is always tagging on to my dates. She seems to have a passion for the attention of my particular boy-friends. Sometimes they bring along an extra for her, knowing that she will be with me, but she doesn't seem to take with any of them and not one has ever asked her for another date. At present I have a dear boy-friend, and he complains that she worries him and death. She is crazy about him and sticks to him like bad glue, so it's impossible for me ever to have a date alone. I have lost several friends as a result of this girl's hanging-on ways and I don't want to lose this one. Thanks for some suggestions as to how to loosen her.

Answer: There is one consoling thought in having to administer a rebuke to a friend that trespasses on friendship and makes a nuisance of herself. She has been a nuisance to you and consequently suffers under such a rebuke as a sensitive person would. To illustrate this point: Suppose Miss Paulson's duty was to prepare the solution.

She took a bottle from the closet shelf and from it prepared the solution. Miss Paulson said that the district attorney, Saul Price, Dr. Irving Lebel injected it in each of the three babies.

Three hours later she noted the children seemed ill. She went to the table where she had prepared the solution, she said, and found that the bottle she had used contained boric acid, not salt.
